RECOUNT PLEA FILED FOR TAFT

Taft Leaders in Bay State Told from White House to Be Peaceful in Policy and Avoid Bitterness for the Good of the Party

Letters received by Massachusetts Taft leaders directly from the White House today advise Taft men in this State to adopt a policy of moderation and toleration, in connection with the Roosevelt delegates, for the good of the Republican party.

The bitterness engendered by the Taft and Roosevelt speeches during the last days of the primary campaign is to be wiped out as far as possible, according to the orders of the President.

The efforts of the Taft men are being aimed now to obtain a recount of the vote, believing that it will swell the President's plurality and thus tend to show that he is the real choice of the Republicans of the State and should have all of the delegates.

Papers were filed today for a recount in 300 of the 354 cities and towns, including Boston. The Boston recount will begin in Faneuil Hall next Tuesday.

It is understood here that the colonel still adheres to his opinion that all of the delegates should vote for the President, as he got the plurality in the preferential vote.

Baxter Not a Candidate.

Charles S. Baxter, one of Roosevelt's delegates-at-large, was asked today:

"Will you be a candidate for United States Senator in opposition to Murray Crane?"

"I am not a candidate for any office," said Mr. Baxter. "I have not heard any discussion among Roosevelt men as to whether or not the progressive wing will oppose the junior Senator. I certainly am not in the field. I think it is too early to take up the Senatorial question. We are in a fighting mood for Mr. Roosevelt at the present time, and that is enough for the present."

It was the talk of the day in Boston political circles that Mr. Baxter's friends were booming him strong against Crane.

"As head of the delegates at large from this State," he said, "I shall probably call a meeting of all the delegates to the convention within a short time. Then we will arrange details for the trip. You may rest assured that the delegates pledged to Mr. Roosevelt will not be found voting for Mr. Taft when the voting is on."

"What will you do if Colonel Roosevelt releases you from your pledge?" he was asked.

"We can go on and release us," he replied with emphasis. The people won't release us. They won't ask us to vote for Mr. Taft when they instructed us to vote for Mr. Roosevelt. And we won't, by George. We will be in the Roosevelt column until the end."

"Big, Strong Man."

"Colonel Roosevelt is the man the people have confidence in. He is a big strong man, not a straw man. President Taft has lost the confidence of the Republican Party, and if he was nominated he would lose the votes of thousands of good members of the party.

"Why? Because he has failed us as President. We have lost strong Republican States since he has been at the helm and we have lost many seats in Congress.

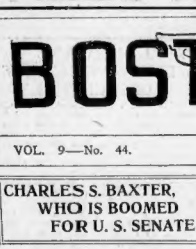
CHARLES S. BAXTER, WHO IS BOOMED FOR U. S. SENATE



NEW ROOSEVELT ATTACK ON TAFT

BALTIMORE, May 3.—In a speech at Salisbury, opening his campaign in Maryland, today, Colonel Roosevelt attacked President Taft and denounced bribery of voters at primaries. "Our opponents, and I am sorry to say Mr. Taft himself has said it, do not trust the people to rule themselves," said the ex-President. "Mr. Taft has told us that he distrusts the impulsive judgment of the American people. Now I heartily disagree with Mr. Taft. I trust the people to govern themselves. I think they know how to do it."

The Colonel criticised the Maryland Taft machine led by William B. Jackson, the national committeeman, saying it did not properly represent the sentiment of the people.

Raps Crooked Business.

"They say we are attacking the State organization," the Colonel said, "well, we are doing that only insofar as it fails to represent the wishes of the people. I don't expect the boss to be with me because the movement isn't healthy for him.

"Now, as to big business. We don't antagonize the man who is square. We respect him to be with us. But the crooked business man we don't want with us and he isn't. He knows well we don't want him.

Colonel Roosevelt then made a strong declaration for clean politics.

"The man who sells his vote," he cried, "is a traitor. He is a traitor to himself to the cause he represents and he is not fit to have a voice in government. I want the people to help in the cause of decent government.

"Now I ask that every colored man here in the South see that no one of his race sells a vote. If the colored people here want to do as I wish, I hope they will organize and see that there isn't any corruption here in the South.

"This also applies to the white man. For the white man may try to debauch him in this fight. Not only is the colored man guilty of treason in selling his vote, but he is guilty of treason to his race. By accepting the bribe that is offered him he is not fit longer to be a citizen.

Denounces Bribery.

"And if any of them takes money in my interest," exclaimed the Colonel, "I will take more pleasure in exposing him than if he did it against me. Now I want you to believe me when I say this. I don't want the nomination if it has to come through any crooked vote. If I can't get it honestly I don't want it at all."

The ex-President made a direct appeal for the votes of those of all parties who favor the "square deal."

"We stand for the basic principles upon which this government was founded," he said. "We want the people to rule, and all those who believe in that principle ought to be with us in this fight. It makes no difference what the party affiliation has been, we are fighting battles.

"Mr. Taft has said that I have gone about the country preaching class hatred. I don't preach hatred against anything but the boss crook. That is the one class of men, the little crook and the big crook. I don't make any distinction excepting that the big crook is a little more dangerous than the little crook.

"I do not preach discontent, except against injustice. Where there is injustice done, I want to speak against it. If you let a boss govern you, he won't govern for his health. He'll not govern you in your own interests; he'll be for himself.

"In this fight we don't want a delegate that doesn't represent the genuine popular feeling. We don't want a delegate who expresses the boss sentiment."

Bay State Democrats to Vote as a Unit for Clark at Baltimore

Decision Reached as Result of Overwhelming Plurality in the Primaries.

The Democratic delegates to the National convention from Massachusetts will vote as a unit for Champ Clark. That fact became known today as a result of a canvass made of the delegates elected. Thirty out of the thirty-six delegates chosen have declared in favor of Clark and at a meeting to be held next week the unit rule will be adopted.

This decision was reached as a result of the overwhelming plurality received by Speaker Clark. It was pointed out that all delegates were bound by a moral obligation to reflect the sentiment of the democracy of the State as shown by the primary election.

MITCHELL CALLED INTO CONFERENCE BY ANTHRACITE MINERS

NEW YORK, May 3.—John Mitchell, ex-president of the United Mine Workers of America and now vice-president of the American Federation of Labor, participated today in the deliberations of the anthracite mine workers' representatives over the course to be pursued in dealing with the operators for increased pay, recognition of the union and other changes not included in the tentative agreement rejected yesterday by the joint conference of operators and miners.

Mr. Mitchell was closeted for more than an hour with William Green of Ohio, who represents President John P. White of the miners. The conference between them was also attended by the district presidents of the authracite miners in the three affected districts.

WON'T PUT OSGOOD IN HUDSON OFFICE

Judge Sheldon of the Supreme Judicial Court today refused to issue a writ declaring John R. Clark of Hudson elected a member of the Board of Selectmen of that town, in place of George E. Osgood, who now holds the office. It is charged by Clark that Osgood was a resident of Marlboro, and he asked the Board of Registrars to strike Osgood's name from the list of voters. On examination it was found Osgood had been paying a poll tax in Hudson for twenty-four years. Clark charged Osgood had paid a tax and an assessment in Marlboro in 1906.

GILLIS, WHO TRIED TO KILL WIFE, IS INSANE

George Gillis of Winthrop, who tried five times to shoot his wife on April 3 and then slashed his own throat so that he nearly died, was adjudged insane today and sent to Taunton Insane Hospital. Gillis has been under observation by the Lunacy Commission at Charles street jail for two weeks. Gillis is fifty-four years old and was formerly employed as a carpenter by the Bay State Street Railway Company.

LYNN INSPECTORS REACH STOCKTON TO BRING DORR BACK

STOCKTON, Cal., May 3.—William H. Kane and Stacey R. Burckes, inspectors of police of Lynn, Mass., have arrived in this city to get William A. Dorr, charged with the murder of George F. Marsh, a wealthy manufacturer of Lynn. Governor Johnson has honored the extradition, but the officers will remain here until after a hearing on a writ of habeas corpus, set for Saturday.

LAWYERS CONFER IN MONEY TRUST PROBE

WASHINGTON, May 3.—Edward H. Farrar of New Orleans and Samuel Untermyer of New York, attorneys for the money trust investigating committee, arrived today and conferred with Chairman Pujo concerning the preliminary steps in the probe of the country's financial institutions. Open hearings will not be begun until the 50,000 banks queried as to their resources and liabilities have replied to the committee.

YACHT ASHORE ON CONNECTICUT REEF

BRIDGEPORT, Ct., May 3.—A two-masted craft with all sails set is on Peadfield reef, apparently partially submerged. From the whiteness of her sails she appears to be a yacht. Local tugboats have gone to her relief.

"FAMINE" IN FOODS PUZZLING

Boston Received 12 Per Cent. More Cars of Meats Last Week Than in Same Week Last Year; Other Figures in Proportion.

Why potatoes should be $2 a bushel at the retail stalls in Faneuil Hall when the potato receipts for Boston so far this year amount to half as much again as the receipts for the same time last year is one of the puzzling questions that goes with the threatened advance in prices.

Why a famine in beef should be predicted when Boston received last week 12 per cent. more carloads than it did in the same week last year is another question.

During the past week, for instance, Boston wholesalers have received 127,080 cases of eggs. During the same week last year they received 68,273 cases, or nearly 50 per cent. less. Yet, the wholesale price of eggs in Boston today was from 10 cents to 23 cents a dozen, while it was 14½ cents to 21 cents a year ago.

Why should the wholesale price be higher when nearly twice as many eggs are being received, to be sold to the retailers and thence to the consumers?

Dispatches from New York today quoted commission men as declaring that butter will reach a retail price of sixty-five to seventy cents a pound next Winter.

The wholesale price of butter in Boston today was from twenty-five to thirty-four cents. A year ago it was from fifteen to twenty-two cents. The retail price at Faneuil Hall stalls today was thirty-five to forty cents.

The beef and potato situation will be wilder the consumer most, as it seems inexplicable that prices should be so much higher than last year when shipments are so much greater.

Yet dispatches from New York today said that a meat famine is in prospect and that the next ninety days will see the consumers paying more to the butchers for meat than ever before, and the butchers paying more to the wholesalers.

LOUISIANA SPLIT ON TAFT AND ROOSEVELT

ALEXANDRIA, La., May 3.—The "Lily White" faction of the Republican party in Louisiana split into two factions today and elected two sets of delegates to the Republican national convention. One is pledged to Taft and one to Roosevelt.

GIRL OF WHOM IPSWICH SUICIDE WAS JEALOUS

Miss Bertha Saunders.

CHUM'S SUICIDE MAKES GIRL ILL

IPSWICH, May 3.—The young people of this town are plunged in gloom, and some and church circles are shocked by the suicide of Miss Lillian Hutchins, who took poison because she thought Miss Bertha Saunders had supplanted her as the chum of Miss Bessie Bliss. She drank a vial of carbolic acid before Miss Bliss' eyes.

The friendship of Miss Hutchins and Miss Bliss was of long standing. Miss Hutchins, a nervous, sensitive girl, became jealous of Miss Saunders. She threatened to poison Miss Bliss unless the latter broke the friendship with Miss Saunders, so Miss Bliss says. When Miss Bliss refused to do this and even refused to room longer with Miss Hutchins the latter killed herself.

The funeral of the girl took place today at her childhood home in Charlestown, N. H. With her was buried a photograph of Miss Bliss, fulfilling a last request made to Miss Bliss before Miss Hutchins drank the poison.

The suicide took place in front of the South Congregational Church on Main street. Miss Hutchins overtook Miss Bliss and asked her if she would return to their room to lodge. When Miss Bliss said she would not Miss Hutchins handed her a package, saying: "Have this buried with me when I am dead."

Miss Bliss took the package, thinking the remark just the saying of an angry girl.

Miss Bliss walked on. Miss Hutchins raised the poison vial to her lips, and before Miss Bliss realized what she had done, fell to the sidewalk. She died three-quarters of an hour later.

Miss Bliss is too ill from shock to see anyone.—Miss Saunders is prostrated. The home of E. E. Currier, where Miss Bliss and Miss Hutchins roomed, is under the shadow of the tragedy.

Miss Saunders sings in the choir of the Episcopal Church. Miss Bliss is a member of the church and Miss Hutchins was a member of the Immanuel Baptist Church. The young people of these two churches are greatly affected.

Methodist Pastors Here Favor Change

Strongly Approve of Bishops' Report Lifting Ban on Amusements.

Boston ministers of the Methodist Episcopal faith are practically unanimous in their indorsement of the report of the Board of Bishops to the general church conference at Minneapolis today in favor of lifting the church ban from dancing, card playing, gambling and attendance at horse races, theatres and circuses. The views of several prominent church leaders follow:

Rev. William W. Bowers, pastor of the Baker Memorial Church, Columbia square, Dorchester.

I am very much in favor of removing the ban on dancing, gambling, theatre going, etc., as recommended by the Board of Methodist Episcopal Ministers. The present chapter which covers these things is wholly inadequate for the present situation. It is not comprehensive enough nor consistent.

REV. GEORGE E. HEATH, pastor of the Barham Memorial Church, Dorchester and Vinton streets:

I am very much of the same opinion as the other Methodist Episcopal ministers of Boston, yet for the present I do not wish to be quoted on the subject. The ban was useless and better abolished.

REV. LYMAN L. HALE, pastor of the City Point Church, South Boston:

I am most certainly in favor of the action o fine board of bishops and will give their report my heartiest endorsement. I believe the conference of Methodist ministers held here in New England recommended that such action be taken at the general conference at Minneapolis. It is bound to create much favor impression and I am confident it will be received favorably by the people.

REV. WEBSTER B. POWELL, pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal Church, Dorchester:

The ban on theatre going, gambling, card playing, dancing and other similar forms of amusement in the present discipline of the Methodist Church is a dead letter. The chapter on "Special Advices," which was inserted in the discipline, set aside the chapter covering the ban on amusements and it all drifts back to the old Wesley chapter on "An Appeal to Consciences." That chapter covers it all and in favoring the removal of the church ban on these things the Board of Bishops is not doing anything but what has practically been already carried by the appeal to consciences. The ban never was written by Wesley; we have outgrown it.

Lumber Plant Fire Causes $75,000 Loss

Other Buildings Threatened by Sparks Carried from Danvers Blaze.

DANVERS, May 3.—A spectacular fire at the Calvin Putnam Lumber Company at Davenport today did damage estimated at $75,000 and endangered several large leather concerns nearby before the full fire-fighting force and several hundred volunteers got the better of the flames.

The fire started in the roof and in a moment flashed fifty feet into the air. Employes had to make a hasty exit from the building to escape injury. Parts of the burning shingle were carried to Danvers square, a mile away. The damage was to machinery and high-grade lumber.

The Putnam Rubber Company plant on the old Story estate caught fire a number of times, but the employes were able to put it out. It required hard fighting to prevent the Wales-Lord tanning plant from catching. The cause of the fire is not known.

MAD DOG PANIC IN SOMERVILLE

A dog which acted as though suffering from rabies knocked Somerville City Hall for quarter of an hour today, snapped at several people, frightened the City Hall stenographers and was finally killed by a single shot from Patrolman Graves' revolver.

"Americans Are Too Far Advanced Longer to Be Restrained by Church Rules," Says Report; Favor Wesley Injunction

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., May 3.—"The American people are too far advanced longer to be restricted by church rules as to what their amusements shall be. The rule prohibiting dancing, card playing, gambling and going to theatres, circuses and horse races therefore should be abolished."

This is the gist of a report presented today to the general conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church by the Board of Bishops.

In recommending this radical change, the twenty-four active bishops stipulated that the church, however, should not be indifferent on these subjects, but that the people should be left to judge for themselves what is right or wrong in amusements, having before them only the injunction of John Wesley, which forbids the taking of such diversions as cannot be taken in the name of the Lord Jesus."

Cannot Differentiate on Gambling.

The bishops declared the church reiterated its opposition to theatre-going and gambling, but the rule in force since 1872 could not fix a point between "the turf and the stock market."

The bishop's report was delivered by Bishop Earl Cranston of Washington, D. C., and it formed the second section of the Episcopal address. The first half of which has been given in part above.

"We would joyfully acclaim the day when every Christian would abstain from amusements which have been prohibited, but we can't repress our conviction that Wesley dealt more wisely with the danger.

"The bishops, therefore, recommend a return to the consistent treatment of this subject by Wesley, and the more earnestly because we are dealing with the American people and the intelligence of the twentieth century.

Still Oppose Dancing.

"As a church we cannot approve dancing and theatre-going. These are questionable amusements. To us, as to several of our sister churches they also justify these amusements as consistent with the spiritual life seem to manifest a deplorable lack of spiritual perception.

"Again we stand unitedly against gambling, and we recognize clearly that it is the same sin in Wall Street that it is in the lowest resort, but we have never ventured legislatively to fix the point where the race track gambler, passing from the turf to the stock market, becomes a respectable business man, eligible to church membership. We send the disfranchising of the board of trustees.

"In our absolute helplessness before this question we must continue to allow the world to suspect that the larger the sin and the more reckless of public weal the offender, the less vicious the crime, provided the winner pays tithes to religion or benevolence."

BORDEN RAPS TAFT AS 'POOR POLITICIAN'

LONDON, May 3.—"President Taft is a politician and a very poor one, I think," was the statement made today by Sir Frederick W. Borden, former Canadian Minister of Militia, when asked to comment on the publication of Mr. Taft's letter to Colonel Roosevelt, disclosing the President's idea that reciprocity eventually would result in annexation. "It is obvious," continued Sir Frederick, "that President Taft was trying to persuade Colonel Roosevelt to his way of thinking."

FATHER VAUGHN ATTACKS DANCES

The "turkey trot," the "grizzly bear," and all the rest have been attacked by Father Vaughn, the noted London Jesuit. He has been in Boston recently and will return here next Summer.

"Anything," he said to a New York interviewer, "anything is better than taking part in diversions like the animal dances, diversions for animals and not for human beings. We are descendants of the anthropoid apes. It is said. If you believe that, then you do right in indulging in the amusements of your species. As for me, I have no such belief. I was created by God in His image, and that puts me on a different footing."

"And that is your attitude on all dancing?"

"It is my attitude toward such dances as we have been discussing. As for my attitude towards dancing, as dancing is generally interpreted, I refer you to the attitude of my church."

GIRL COMATOSE FOR 48 HOURS

NORTH ADAMS, May 3.—Miss Florence Drey, fifteen, of South Williamstown, was to-day aroused from a state of coma in which she has been for over forty-eight hours. Tuesday afternoon she was talking with her grandmother, Mrs. George Thompson, when she heard the cries of a small kitten. While searching for the animal she became faint and relapsed into the comatose state.

Doctors were summoned, but she still slept despite all their efforts to arouse her. Dr. George B. Holl says that the case is the most baffling he has ever seen.

When she was aroused today, she asked about the kitten and resumed her conversation just where it had been dropped.

PAPAL DELEGATE IN NEW YORK, GETS GREETING BY TAFT

NEW YORK, May 3.—Archbishop Giovanni Bonzano, who has been appointed apostolic delegate to the United States in succession to Cardinal Falconio, arrived here early today on the steamer Koenig Albert from Naples.

Monsignor Bonzano received his first welcome to America by wireless while the steamer was at sea. It was President Taft's greeting to the new apostolic delegate.

When the Koenig Albert docked the consulters and monsignore of the diocese and a lay committee headed by Supreme Court Justice Dowling, welcomed Monsignor Bonzano, who then was driven to the residence of Cardinal Farley. Later, the papal delegate was tendered, in St. Patrick's Cathedral, the ancient ceremonial reception accorded prelates of his rank.

HIGH-O-ME

That's the Proper Way to Pronounce HYOMEI, the Famous Catarrh Remedy Made from Australian Eucalyptus and Other Antiseptics—Just Breathe It.

It Banishes Catarrh

Getting rid of catarrh is an easy matter if you will only use a common sense method.

Germs cause catarrh. You know that, and you also know that in order to end catarrh you must destroy the germs. Sprays and douches will not kill the germs. Liquid cannot penetrate into the folds and crevices of the mucous membrane of the nose and throat. Neither can it reach the lungs or even the tubes that lead to the lungs.

In every HYOMEI outfit, which is sold by druggists everywhere, there is a bottle of antiseptic liquid that will kill catarrh germs.

Pour a few drops of this liquid into the little hard rubber inhaler which comes with the outfit and breathe this now antiseptic vaporized air over the membrane of the nose and throat infested with catarrh germs.

It's pleasant, soothing and healing, is this vaporized air, and it is really the only remedy known that can reach and destroy catarrh germs and end the misery and humiliation that catarrh causes. Complete outfit $1.00. Extra bottles of HYOMEI, if needed, cost 50 cents. Druggists everywhere sell HYOMEI. It is guaranteed not to contain cocaine, opium or other habit-forming drugs.

EDMANDS NOT TO AID RICHESON

The attempts to secure evidence favorable to Clarence V. T. Richeson, to be used in connection with his plea for commutation of his sentence of electrocution, received a setback when it became known today that no member of the Edmands family would consent to be a witness or give a deposition. It has been the hope of Lawyers Philip B. Dunbar and William A. Morse that either Miss Grace Edmands or Miss Violet Edmands, the confessed man's fiancee, would testify before the Governor's council concerning the actions of Richeson for the four days prior to his arrest, but both have refused.

The lawyers have secured the promise of the doctor who attended Richeson through this critical time, and it is believed that his testimony will do much toward furthering the insanity claim.

Governor Foss has issued a statement that he would not make a final decision on the Richeson case until next week. This is looked upon by the friends of the murderer as sure evidence that whatever the decision of the council the date of execution will be postponed.

If the Governor calls the council together next week for a hearing on the question of the commutation of sentence, it will be a special session. Otherwise the hearing would not come up before the next regular meeting of the council on May 15. This would be only four days before the date set for the execution.

No Word From Edmands.

The absence of any deposition from a member of the Edmands family is considered a conspicuous missing link in the list of affidavits now before the Governor. Violet Edmands' marriage to Richeson was to have been solemnized on October 31, 1911, within ten days of the time of his arrest charged with murder. Although Mr. Edmands has financed the defence of the self-confessed man, he has not aided personally in the fight to save the confessed prisoner.

Richeson has seventeen days longer to live before his electrocution in the death chair at Charlestown State prison, according to the sentence of the Superior Court which followed his confession of guilt.

There stand in the way of this electrocution only Governor Foss and his council, both of whom must agree to a commutation of the sentence before such action can be taken. Members of the council practically to a man have said that nothing whatsoever could induce them to agree to the commutation.

Governor to Act.

Governor Foss has in his possession affidavits of persons who say that Richeson's weak mental state would justify the commutation of his sentence of death to life imprisonment. Although the Governor has had these in his possession for a week, he has not even signified as to whether he will refer the matter to the council.

Richeson is under constant observation of Dr. Cilley, the physician of the Charles Street jail. He is reported to be standing up well under the ordeal. He reads but little, prays a great deal and spends the greater part of his time either lying down on his cot or walking up and down his cell room. He makes no mention of his case to any of the jail officials or the prisoners. He is often taken out for a walk around the jail yard. He must be transferred to the Charlestown State prison within ten days of May 10.

May Hold Public Hearing.

It is reported Governor Foss will order a public hearing on Richeson's case. Should such a hearing be held it is not unlikely that his aged father, Colonel Thomas V. Richeson, would come here from his home in Virginia and plead before the council for his son's life. His sisters might also appear.

Attorney John H. Lee of Virginia, who is associated with William A. Morse and Philip B. Dunbar of this city as counsel for Richeson, has gone home. He will return to this city next week and may bring witnesses from Virginia who knew Richeson when he was a boy.

At the time Richeson's lawyers met in private conference with the Governor at the State House to present the petition for executive clemency they presented much evidence, all of which tended to show that Richeson was not now and never had been responsible for his acts.

MEDALS TO BOYS FOR LIFE SAVING

The trustees of the Massachusetts Humane Society have voted a silver medal to R. G. F. Jackson, fifteen years old, of No. 12 Elm street, Dorchester, for rescuing Eugene Lynch, Jr., and William McLaughlin in Dorchester Bay on February 18.

Jackson broke the ice with his hands as he went along until he had reached the spot where the two boys were struggling in the water. His hands were so bruised that he was almost powerless to help the boys. He dragged them to him, however, and succeeded in holding them up until help came.

Another boy who is to gain a coveted symbol of bravery is fifteen-year-old Dupleix Coffey, a sophomore at the Medford High School. He rescued Andrew Brown, seven, from drowning in the Mystic River, near the Arlington line, on February 25. He is the son of Superintendent William H. Coffey of the Tufts College post office station.

The boys, with several associates, started to cross the ice on floating cakes. Halfway over Brown fell into the water. Coffey was walking on the ice behind them, sighted, of course. He heard the boy's screams and attempted, still dressed, to save the youngster. Although unsuccessful in the bridge and between him and Coffey they pulled the little Brown out to safety.

RICHEST BABY AT HORSE SHOW

WASHINGTON, May 3.—Riding astride on Yellowstone Regent, a big bay horse, Miss Janet Allen, daughter of Major Henry T. Allen, outclassed even the cavalry officers from Fort Myer in a series of daring jumps over a six-barred hurdle, and was clearly the feature of the National Horse Show.

Clearing six hurdles without missing, or even touching one, Miss Allen rode to victory in the first heats. In the final try out, however, her horse slipped on a stone and she only won third place, although her riding was easily first.

The spectators were plainly disappointed by the failure of Miss Katherine Elkins to ride in the event for which she was scheduled. Miss Elkins was prepared to ride, but changed her mind when she noted the presence of a moving picture man. Julian Morris, easily the star masculine rider of the day, put her horse Joker through the prances in a brilliant manner.

It was children's day at the show. Juvenile society was out in force to witness the pony events. Master Vincent McLean had as his special guest John Foulke Hevenith, son of the Belgian minister. Part of the time these two youngsters amused themselves by pulling the huge red feather that adorned the Parisian hat of Mme. Bakhmeteff, wife of the Russian ambassador and aunt of young McLean. During a stroll about the park with his father, Edward Beale McLean, the hundred-million-dollar baby Vincent, gave his first interview. He is chubby, sweet-faced and just three years old. With a charming smile he said to the interviewer:

"Glad to meet you. See the horses?"

"Which do you like best the trotters or the jumpers?"

Quickly he answered in his shrill treble: "I like the jumps ones."

EMIL BOAS, BIG STEAMSHIP MAN, IS DEAD, AGED 58

GREENWICH, Ct., May 3.—Emil Boas, director and general manager of the Hamburg American Steamship Line, died early today at his home here, after four days' illness from influenza and incipient pneumonia.

Mr. Boas was born on November 15, 1854, in Goerlitz, Germany, and was educated at the Royal Frederick William Gymnasium, Breslau, and Sophia Gymnasium, Berlin. His wealth is estimated at several millions.

FLOYD ALLEN BEGS DEATH

WYTHEVILLE, Va., May 3.—Floyd Allen, leader of the outlaw gang that wiped out the Carroll County court at Hillsville, was in a state of collapse today as he waited for the murder of Prosecutor Foster was resumed today. He was pale, and trembled in every limb when carried into court. Just as court convened, Judge Staples was informed that the prisoner last night begged his guard to cut his throat.

"I have got no chance," Allen said to the latter. "Kill me quick and save it over with. I'm all in."

Judge Staples ordered that Allen should be watched carefully night and day, to prevent suicide. The grand jury over the other prisoners will be doubled.

Cyrus Gibbs, a civil engineer, took up a great deal of time explaining maps of the Hillsville court house grounds.

The witness said he found thirty-eight bullet holes in the courthouse. Ten of the holes were on the south side of the court room, which indicated they came from the direction of Claude, Sidna Allen and Wesley Edwards. Fifteen shots were fired from the south side, nine from the northwest corner and seven from the northeast corner. Evidently the quickest shooting, he testified, was done by Wesley Edwards, Claude and Sidna Allen.

The witness was in court on the day the jury brought in its verdict. He saw Sidna and Victor walk up to the bar, put their right hands in their pockets, and seem to catch hold of pistols. The inference informed the witnesses that both Sidna and Victor are left handed. That did not change his evidence, however.

George W. Edwards, the next witness, is from the Piney Ridge district, about seven miles from Floyd Allen's home. In a conversation with Floyd Allen before the trial he testified Floyd said he did not think "Bill" Foster would give him a fair show in that court and he "intended to knock the biggest hole in that court that ever was."

LAST OF ALLEN GANG CORNERED

BLUEFIELD, W. Va., May 3.—A report received here today states that detectives have surrounded Sidna Allen and Wesley Edwards near Ivanhoe in Wythe county, Va. They sent for reinforcements last night, and advices today state that the two last of the Allen gang at large will probably be captured by night.

WILSON ILL, BAY STATE VOTE A BLOW

TRENTON, N. J., May 3.—Governor Woodrow Wilson was reported confined to his bed today with a severe cold, but his ailment is said to be rather in the nature of a breakdown. He has not been in good health for some time and the recent primary results, particularly those in Massachusetts, have, it is said, affected him quite noticeably. The Governor has no campaign plans for the immediate future and his subsequent trips will depend largely upon the results of the primaries within the next two weeks.

"Such a Thing as Keeping Too Clean"

Doctor Says Some Children Have Been Washed From This World Into Next.

There is such a thing as too much cleanliness, according to Dr. A. Howard Powers, who in a lecture at the Massachusetts Homeopathic Hospital said:

"In saying that cleanliness is akin to godliness, which so many people wrongly attribute to the Bible, is a good deal less true than that some children have been washed from this world into the next. Contrary to the usual belief, the health of the individual is not nearly so dependent on cleanliness as many believe, and there are many errors in bathing which more than counterbalance its good effects, especially in the case of the very young or the very old.

"Dandruff, he described as largely an anaemic condition, and the oiliness of the face to which so many women object he said is the use of soap.

Nearly everybody in Boston reads the AMERICAN.

"KARNIVAL" AT CONSERVATORY

"Kon Korridor Karnival" will be given under the direction of the girls of the Alpha Chi Omega Sorority May 9 in the corridor of Recital Hall at the New England Conservatory of Music, Huntington avenue. The proceeds will go towards the scholarship fund of the organization.

The girls will dance to lively gypsy music and many will appear garbed as senoritas.

Another feature of equal interest and attractiveness will be booths decorated on an elaborate scale, one of which will be in charge of Mrs. Durell. Much speculation is rift as to what the fates have in store for some of the prominent members of the sorority, to be made known at these booths.

On the committee of arrangements are the Misses Elizabeth Wood, Antoinette Nutter, Belle Nutter, Gladys Pitcher, Mildred Eder and Sarah Littlejohn.

Carnegie Endows Italian Hero Fund

$775,000 Gift Starts Report That King Will Bestow Title of Count In Return.

ROME, May 3.—The American ambassador has handed over to the director of the Bank of Italy title deeds representing $3,947,300 lires (about $775,000), being Andrew Carnegie's gift for the foundation of an Italian hero fund.

It is reported in well-informed circles here, that the King has asked Mr. Carnegie to accept the title of count.

REMBRANDT BRINGS $95,000 AT PARIS

PARIS, May 3.—The sum of $147,527 was realized at the first session of the three-day sale of the collection of paintings, sculpture and miscellaneous art objects of the late Mme. Levaltgueur. The "clou" of the collection was Rembrandt's "Woman Plucking a Chicken," which was bought by M. Kleinberger for $95,000.

SCORES DELAY ON GRAND TROUNK

"The Railroad Committee of the Massachusetts Legislature must be smoked out," declared President John J. Martin of the Massachusetts Real Estate Exchange today. "The committee has been out more than five weeks preparing a Grand Trunk bill. We know they have a bill and we want to see it now."

The Real Estate Exchange and the Fruit and Produce Exchange have adopted the policy of opposing all railroad legislation until the Grand Trunk matter is settled, and for this reason have appeared against the New Haven trolley merger.

Chairman Schumaker of the Railroad Commission said last week that the Grand Trunk bill would be reported this week. Now he thinks it will not be ready until next week.

The Grand Trunk advocates think the Railroad Committee is planning to hold up its report for another month. On the best authority it is understood that the bill which will be reported will be a general railroad bill, and not in the least intended to suit the special needs of the Grand Trunk.

YOUR GRAY HAIRS QUICKLY VANISH
A HARMLESS REMEDY RESTORES COLOR

A feeling of sadness accompanies the discovery of the first gray hairs which unfortunately are looked upon as heralds of advancing age. Gray hair, however handsome it may be, makes a person look old. We all know the advantages of being young. Aside from the good impression a youthful appearance makes on others, simply knowing that you are "looking fit" gives one courage to undertake and accomplish things. So why suffer the handicap of looking old on account of gray hairs, when a simple remedy will give your gray hair youthful color and beauty in a few days' time?

Most people know that common garden sage acts as a color restorer and scalp tonic as well. Our grandmothers used a "Sage Tea" for keeping their hair dark, soft and luxuriant. In Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy we have an ideal preparation of Sage, combined with Sulphur and other valuable remedies for dandruff, itching scalp and thin, weak hair that is split at the ends or constantly coming out. A few applications of this valuable remedy will bring back the color, and in a short time it will remove every trace of dandruff and greatly improve the growth and appearance of the hair.

Get a fifty-cent bottle from your druggist to-day, and notice the difference in your hair after a few days' treatment. All druggists sell it, under guarantee that the money will be refunded if the remedy is not exactly as represented.

DR. WOOLEY ON CHILD'S DRESS

SYBIL WARNE.

The modern child is often dressed in a most ridiculous way.

The simplest things in dress are generally the most healthy.

We talk about simple food. Simple dress is just as necessary.

Don't tell children when they go out to play not to get their dresses dirty.

Let children get their dresses dirty when they play, if they get healthy in that play.

It is often the style of clothing that children wear that makes them peevish.

These are some of the suggestions made by Dr. Emma M. Wooley, who wants a reform movement started in dressing children who are brought up in the city. She thinks that the modern mother is sacrificing too much to fashion, and that fashion should not govern so much the dress of children so as to keep them uncomfortable and often unhealthy.

Dr. Wooley has been a student of child life for some time and she urges upon parents the duty of letting them get their dresses dirty if they can have a good time in the open air, but she scores mothers who keep the children indoors so much just to keep their clothing tidy.

"Why is it that we sacrifice so much to a child's looks in its clothes and do not pay much attention to its health and comfort?" said Dr. Emma M. Wooley. "When you go down the street and meet a child, you will, ten to one, find it dressed in some ridiculous way. Mother wants her child to look attractive, and puts upon it some sort of clothing that may follow the prevailing style.

"This prevailing style often is something that will make the child uncomfortable, and it looks so.

"The simplest things in dress for children are the most healthy. But you cannot say much about this to modern parents. They will put anything upon the child to carry out some fashion or fad.

"It is no wonder that you see children in this city overclothed. They have too much on them. We talk about simple food, which is essential, but it is not any more essential than simple dress.

WHAT KIND OF VACATION DO YOU NEED?

It all depends on the sort of work you have to do on the other fifty weeks of the year, says Dr. I. L. Nascher of Fordham University. He has figured out just the sort of recreation YOU need.

PRESIDENT BACK FROM THE SOUTH

WASHINGTON, May 3.—President Taft returned from his Southern trip at 8:30 a. m. today and went at once to the White House. From this time on until the national convention in Chicago, the President will personally direct his campaign for renomination. Numerous conferences will be held with his political advisers.

The President will make a quick jump to Maryland tomorrow, leaving early in the morning for Baltimore, where he will make several speeches in preparation for the State primaries Monday night or Monday morning. President Taft will leave for Cincinnati, where he will attend the great musical festival on Tuesday.

HAMMOND EXPERT AT WIRELESS WORK

John Hays Hammond, Jr., of Gloucester, who has just been chosen as one of this country's delegates to the London wireless conference in June, designed so far as lies within the power of wireless to prevent such disasters as that to the Titanic, has already demonstrated his unusual ability in the field of wireless operations.

Beginning with an old houseboat in Gloucester harbor he demonstrated that he could, by means of wireless, control its movements from the shore. This principle he desires to apply in directing the course of torpedoes through the water.

NINE-MILE BRIDGE FOR SAN FRANCISCO

LOS ANGELES, May 3.—With the passage of a bill by the United States Senate Wednesday granting Allan C. Bush, a Los Angeles engineer, a right of way across Goat Island, the first tangible step was made toward the execution of the plans for spanning San Francisco Bay with a $26,000,000 suspension bridge. It is to be the longest in the world. The bridge is planned will be nine and a half miles in length.

POLICE HOLD BACK CLINTON STRIKERS

CLINTON, May 3.—Ropes stretched across both ends of Bond street, with a heavy platoon of police inside, prevented the strikers at the Lancashire mills from reaching those remaining at work. A strike was called nine days ago. When the 130 strikers attempted to throw their picket line around the mills they were frustrated by these ropes. It is estimated that twenty weavers deserted the strikers ranks today.

NEW HAVEN GETS SHIPS IN BIG DEAL

The acquisition of the Dominion Atlantic line of steamers that plies between Boston and Yarmouth by the New Haven Railroad, which has been rumored in shipping circles, was confirmed by President A. W. Perry of the Plant Line, who returned to Boston from England on the White Star Line steamer Arabic.

"That was a deal between Mr. Mellen and the Canadian Pacific Railroad," said President Perry. "The New Haven traded its stock in the Rutland Railroad to the Canadian Pacific Railroad for the stock in the Dominion Line of steamers, which was controlled by the Canadian Pacific Railroad through the Dominion Atlantic Railroad of Nova Scotia."

President Perry was in England seeing about a new steamer for the Plant line to run between Boston and Halifax. It is to be called the "Evangeline" and was to be ready for use the first of next month but owing to the coal strike in England it will be delayed a couple of months.

The Arabic carried eighteen life boats, ten of which were new and all of which were swung out ready for use. This had been done as a result of the Titanic disaster.

ALWAYS SUSPECT YOUR STOMACH

Do Not Be Fooled by Misleading Symptoms.

If your digestion is out of order you may have symptoms that will mislead you into thinking you have heart disease, kidney trouble, some nervous or blood disorder. Better look to the stomach first. It is here that the blood gets its nourishment. If the digestion is disordered, the blood will be out of order. Poor digestion fills the blood with poisons. This impure blood poisons every tissue of the body. The dyspeptic awakes in the morning with a dull, heavy head and is irritable, melancholy, and dizzy because the brain, nerves and muscles have been poisoned from the stomach.

Mrs. W. F. Raulliard, whose address is R. F. D. No. 1, West Kennebunk, Me., says: "I tried two doctors and both failed to help me. I had a bad stomach and did not think I would ever get well. My stomach would pain me severely at times, which I believe was due to gas forming on it. Sometimes my food would ferment sour stomach. My liver was torpid. I had palpitation of the heart and if I walked fast my heart would beat rapidly and I would get all out of breath. I had hot flashes all over my body. I was extremely nervous and if excited would tremble like a leaf and have no control over my actions. Towards the last when I was so sick, my head ached over the eyes affecting the sight. I had frequent spells of weakness and would have to lie down and rest. I had neither strength nor ambition and did my work indifferently. I lost greatly in weight. I had been sick for several years when a friend recommended Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People because they had helped her and I began to take them. It is wonderful how they helped me. I soon felt better and was so pleased that I continued their use until I was cured. I am willing to tell anyone of my cure and have recommended the pills to many people."

A new edition of the booklet, "What to Eat and How to Eat," is free on request. Send a postal for it to day and begin to cure yourself by following the directions it contains.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all druggists, or will be sent, postpaid, on receipt of price, 50 cents per box; six boxes for $2.50, by the Dr. Williams Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y.

MRS. VANDERBILT, DANGEROUSLY ILL AFTER OPERATION

MRS. W. K. VANDERBILT, JR.

Mrs. W. K. Vanderbilt, Jr., Operated Upon

Condition After Appendicitis Attack Alarms Household and Family Is Called by Telephone.

NEW YORK, May 3.—Mrs. William K. Vanderbilt, Jr., was operated on for appendicitis at her home, No. 666 Fifth avenue, at 8 o'clock Wednesday morning. The operation was entirely unexpected, as Mrs. Vanderbilt had been passing most of her time recently on her Lake Success property with her two children.

For several hours there was grave anxiety over Mrs. Vanderbilt's condition. Although possessed of great energy and vitality and in the best of health all last Winter, the strain of the operation seemed to pull her down in a most alarming way.

Toward morning she rallied strongly, her pulse and temperature crept back nearly to what was expected, and it seemed sure that, barring some unforeseen relapse, she had passed one crisis. Not until then, it is said, would Mrs. Reginald Vanderbilt go home to take much needed rest.

At Mrs. Vanderbilt's house last night it was stated that she had had a fairly comfortable day and was resting easily. It was said that, although the pain consequent to the operation naturally aggravated her condition, she was probably out of danger.

REQUEST FOR U. S. OFFICIAL STIRS CUBA

HAVANA, May 3.—A request to President Gomez by creditors of the government that an American supervisor of customs be appointed to insure their payment has aroused further resentment against the United States here. It is also being made a political issue in the presidential campaign. The government owes $5,000,000 for municipal improvements here and in Cienfuegos, while $5,000,000 is needed for ordinary debts.

FORM SOCIETY TO GLORIFY AUTO BANDIT

PARIS, May 3.—An extraordinary club, called the "Bonnotist Society," after the automobile anarchist Bonnot, has been formed here. The object of the club is to glorify Bonnot, who stole automobiles and murdered policemen and detectives. His admirers shout: "Long live Bonnot, death to the police."

15,000 IN N. Y. SUFFRAGE LINE

NEW YORK, May 3.—Thousands of women will participate in the great woman suffrage parade, which starts from Washington square at 5 o'clock tomorrow. It is expected there will be 15,000 in line.

Hundreds of banners and pennants ready for use are stacked in the rooms of the Women's Political Union, No. 46 East Twenty-ninth street. Several of the Fifth avenue shops will be deserted. Mrs. Charles Knoblauch will be marshal in place of Miss Annie Tinker, who is ill. She will be followed by one hundred women riders, headed by Mrs. T. P. Curtis of No. 447 Beacon street, Boston, thirty-two Massachusetts suffragists arrived today to take part in the parade.

The Bay State delegation brought with them the Massachusetts banner, which will be carried in the parade by Mrs. Stanley McCormick; the Julia Ward Howe and the Lucy Stone banners, which will be borne by Mrs. John Leonard of Brookline and Miss Harriet Foley.

The oldest suffragette in the parade will be the Rev. Antoinette Brown Blackwell, aged ninety-four, who will ride in a carriage, accompanied by a guard of young women. The next oldest will be Mrs. Charles D. B. Mills, mother of Miss Harriet May Mills, president of the New York State Woman Suffrage Association. Mrs. Mills is in her eighty-seventh year.

The Rev. Anna Howard Shaw, president of the national association, will march in the forward ranks, heading the officers of the National Board.

Speakers at the Carnegie Hall meeting will be the Rev. Anna Howard Shaw and Mrs. Anna Garlin Spencer. There will be about forty women speakers during the evening, from Madison square to Fifty-seventh street.

The Men's League for Woman Suffrage expects to have a delegation of about fifteen hundred. George Foster Peabody will head this division and Frederick S. Greene will be marshal.

Auto News

By J. C. KERRISON.

The closing number for the 500-mile race at Indianapolis is twenty four cars nominated, this being within six of the limit of entries to be accepted by the committee. One of the stipulations is that, in order to be eligible for this competition, the car shall show a speed of seventy-five miles an hour on one circuit of the Speedway, which is two and a half miles around.

The most recent entries for the race are the Oeel and McFarlan, the former being a German car and the latter an American make.

Three Nationals, two Stutz, two Case cars, two Mercedes and one each of Lozier, Flat, Simplex, Lexington, McFarlan, Oped, Schacht, Firestone-Columbus, Knox, Marquette Buick, Cutting, White and Mercer are included in the list of starters. The drivers will be the best in the business, including Bruce-Brown, De Palma, Mulford, Merrick, Hearne, Wishart, Hughes and Burman. Barney Oldfield is likely to make a start in this event.

Tomorrow the Santa Monica road race will be held on what is considered the fastest road course in America and reports are to the effect that the contestants are traveling in practice at the rate of ninety-two miles an hour, the fastest that has ever been recorded on the circuit. Those who are familiar with the course are confident that the records will go by the boards.

The Ilex gang will take possession of Camp Margedal at Lake Winnipesaukee tomorrow afternoon. Almost all of those invited have accepted the invitation to again participate of the hospitality of Charles I. Campbell.

The advance guard, consisting of a few kindred spirits, left here this noon to prepare a plenty of rest and recreation for the others. Three days of pleasure is confidently expected and, if history repeats itself, will be experienced.

W. H. Randall of the J. M. Linscott Company, has returned from a visit to the Reo factory at Lansing, Mich. He brings with him the announcement that the factory is working overtime and yet it is unable to keep up with the orders, so popular is the Reo Fifth throughout the country.

He said agents from every section of America were clamoring for early deliveries and it was only by sticking to the job that he was able to secure additional deliveries per Boston. The plant is now turning out something like fifty-five cars a day and if sufficient numbers of workmen can be secured the product will be increased immensely.

MISS BATEMAN PEDDLES EGGS

NEWPORT, May 3.—Miss Dorothy Bateman, bequeathed $500,000 by the late Ross Winans of Baltimore, continues to drive through town delivering eggs, milk, cream and other farm products as she had done for years. The sudden wealth that fell to the innkeeper's daughter has caused no transformation, except that the smile is more noticeable than ever.

Many automobile parties today went out of their way to catch a glimpse of Bateman's, the home of the latest Newport heiress. Miss Bateman's father, Sidney Bateman, declared his inn is open and ready for patrons and that the family has no plans for the future. "We are going to go along in the usual way," said Mr. Bateman. "There will be no change in our way of living. We have not planned what we will do; in fact, we have not given the future a thought."

BALTIMORE, Md., May 3.—"Take your actress wife, and never darken my door again. I'll eat you off without a penny, you young scamp."

Ross Revillon Winans, millionaire scion of one of the oldest American families, made this eloquent speech, in December, 1909, he learned that his eldest son, Thomas R. Winans, had married Maria Delgado, a famous Spanish dancer.

The death of the millionaire revealed today that he has practically carried out his threat. In his will, disposing of an estate of $4,000,000, he cuts off his son with the mere income from $200,000.

Maria Delgado is the daughter of a Spanish innkeeper. When a child she, with her sister Anita, waited on the table.

Crowning Triumph of Edison's Career

Perfects Method to Separate Paying Elements of Ore; Means $100,000,000 Productive Wealth a Year.

NEW YORK, May 3.—Thomas A. Edison, it was learned today, has accomplished the crowning triumph of his career.

He has perfected a method of separating the paying elements of ores that will mean $100,000,000 a year in the productive wealth of the country. The inventor has been working over his plan for years and it is said, has spent a fortune in his experimental work. The general effect of Edison's method is to do away with the term "low grade" ore. With his system the valuable materials can be extracted from all ores.

Those closely associated with the inventor declare he believes his new invention is the most valuable he has given to mankind.

AUDIENCE SURE IT WAS PRINCE INCOG

PARIS, May 3.—There was fun last night at the Theatre des Capucines when the audience thought the Prince of Wales had escaped the vigilance of his hostess, the American Countess De Bretenil, and had taken to the stage. The cause of the mistake was a review in which appears a character called the Earl of Chester, the name by which the Prince of Wales is known in Paris. Theactor who took the part of the Earl looks exactly like the Prince. The audience, believing the Prince of Wales was really playing the part for a prank, went wild and shouted: "Long live the Prince! He's like his grandfather!"

ROADS OPPOSE FIREMEN'S PLEA

NEW YORK, May 3.—Railroad managers today declared that the demands for increased pay of the locomotive firemen and hostlers employed on the railroads east of Chicago and north of the Ohio and Potomac rivers would cost the roads $20,000,000 annually if granted. It is believed the demand will be strongly opposed.

One of the demands is that on coal burning locomotives in freight service a fireman and an assistant fireman shall be employed. This would mean the employment of 18,000 additional men.

BLIN DFROM INFANCY, MAY BE A SURGEON

CHICAGO, May 3.—Surgical operations may be performed by a blind man if Jacob W. Roboff succeeds in passing the examination for a physician's license which he took before the State Board of Medical Examiners. He has not every test that has been given him, and the examiners believe he will qualify and become the first blind medical practitioner in the State of Illinois. He has been blind from infancy.

AUTOIST KILLED IN COLLISION WITH POLE

WORCESTER, May 3.—Leander H. Holmes, a general auto repairer of No. 1 Adams street, Dorchester, was killed in an automobile accident at Collier's Corner, in the town of Leicester. The place where the accident happened is known as one of the most dangerous to automobilists in the vicinity of this city.

CLARK PRAISES STEAD'S CAREER

William T. Stead, the eminent English author and journalist, who was lost on the Titanic, proved his courage a hundred times before his heroism in the disaster, according to a tribute paid by the Rev. Francis E. Clark, D.D., president of the Christian Endeavor Society, in the Christian Endeavor World. Among other things Dr. Clark says:

A survivor tells us that he saw Mr. Stead standing with Major Butt on the upper dock when it was all awash and just before the Titanic plunged to her deepest bed. "He was talking calmly and quietly," says the narrator, "and gave no sign of fear or trepidation."

I can well believe it, for Mr. Stead was one of the bravest men I ever knew. He did not wait for the supreme test of the Titanic to prove his courage. It had been tested a hundred times.

He had faced angry mobs and proclaimed to them unpopular and unpalatable truths. He had stood fast for what he believed to be the truth when it involved obloquy and scorn and derision.

He had suffered imprisonment, and gloried in it, when striving to awaken Great Britain to the enormity of the "white-slave" traffic.

He probably knew more kings, rulers, diplomats and prominent men in the world of politics and statesmanship than any living man; and he did not hesitate to tell them the truth as God gave him to see the truth.

He had recently "offended his son," as he declared, both to the Czar of Russia and to the Sultan of Turkey; and well would it be for both monarchs if their rulers would listen to his counsels.

WORCESTER MAN FOUND KILLED

WORCESTER, May 3.—With two gashes in his throat, Benjamin F. Baker was found in an alleyway back of No. 5 Mercantile street, by chance passers-by. He died at the hospital a few minutes later.

The police today are seeking a man known to have made threats against Baker, and a woman, over whom Baker and this man quarreled.

Baker was murdered, according to the statement of Dr. Richard J. Shanahan, the physician at the police station. Dr. Shanahan declared that the wounds, either of which would have caused death, could not possibly have been self-inflicted.

The police have what they believe to have been the weapon with which the crime was committed, in a small, but keen bladed penknife, which was found, covered with blood-stains, beside the body of Baker.

The clew, which the police are now following, was given them by the father of the dead man, Baker, Senior, lives in Harwich. He was notified at once of his son's death, and the police questioned him at once as to any enemies his son may have had.

"There was one," said the old man.

Wrote Threat Note.

"My son and this man had quarreled. They both liked the same girl—used to go to see her, and often met at her home.

"My son did not feel angrily toward the other man, but that man could bear no opposition. Finally he wrote my son a letter. 'You keep out of my way,' the letter said. 'I'll kill you.'

"I had a letter from the woman, too. She wrote and begged me to persuade my son to be careful. She told me this other man would be apt to attack him."

The police at once spread a dragnet for this man, and will question him closely if he is found. They decline to give his name.

That Baker had heeded the warnings and was preparing to leave Worcester was indicated by the fact that a few days ago, he arranged with an express company to have his trunk removed from the house where he had boarded, at No. 73 Thomas street. The trunk was taken away shortly afterward.

Perform Autopsy Today.

An autopsy will be performed on the body of Baker today, but the nature of the wounds has already been described by Dr. Shanahan.

"One," he said, "practically severed the dead man's windpipe. The other sliced through the wall of the jugular vein. Either one meant swift and certain death."

Baker was still alive when found, but died shortly after reaching the hospital. The police believe that the slayer was frightened away in the very middle of his deed, by the chance passers who discovered the body.

The murdered man was a baker by trade. He was thirty-three years old and came to Worcester three years ago from Harwich. Since that time he had been employed by the Worcester Market and Clover Dairy Company, but was planning to leave.

He was a member of Harwich Lodge, I. O. F., and of Howard Lodge of South Yarmouth, A. F. and A. M.

GOVERNOR FOSS VETOES BILL FOR CITY HALL ANNEX

Governor Foss today vetoed Mayor Fitzgerald's bill proposing an annex to City Hall, the height of which would be 133 feet—eight feet in excess of that allowed in Boston by law at this time. In the course of his veto the Governor says:

"The city should set an example of respect for the rights of others and of obedience to law."

The bill was put through the Legislature by Representative Martin Lomasney and his brother, Senator Joseph Lomasney. It was said today that they would make an effort to pass the bill over the Governor's veto.

"Under existing conditions," said the Governor, "I am unable to find any justification for a special enactment nullifying the provisions of the present law."

The bill was opposed by the Chamber of Commerce and other business organizations.

ENGLISH ESTATE IS SOLD BY ORLEANS

LONDON, May 3.—There is considerable discussion over the fact that the Duke of Orleans, head of the Bourbon Orleans house, has sold his famous English estate at Wood Norton, on which he has spent an enormous sum since 1897 when he inherited it from the Duke d'Aumale. Nothing has been divulged as to a future subsidiary residence for the French pretender.

The purchaser of the property is the Honorable Sir Charles Sydney Eddy, judge of the chancery division of the High Court of Justice.

PREMIER MORRIS VISITS IN BOSTON

Sir Edward Morris, Premier of Newfoundland, is in Boston today on his way to Washington where he will discuss with the Secretary of State and the British Embassy some details arising out of the award for The Hague fisheries tribunal.

He said: "There is not the slightest bad feeling between the fishermen of Newfoundland and of the United States. They are exercising their respective rights on the treaty coasts in the friendliest manner, and since the award of The Hague not one solitary case has arisen."

BELIEVE BIBBER HAD WARNING

LEWISTON, Me., May 3.—On the eighth day after the killing of John W. Bibber, prominent clubman, popular bachelor and Lewiston's "best dressed," policemen and detectives intimate that Bibber's friends are "concealing something."

The authorities do not state the case so bluntly as this. They intimate that in their opinion the associates of the late merchant tailor are "not entirely frank."

The city is full of rumors. Some of these would not be printed by any newspaper in the world, and yet they are circulated in Lewiston, and across the Androscoggin in Auburn, more generally than if they came from a thousand presses by a thousand delivery wagons.

One yarn which may be printed is that Bibber had been warned. The story is that friends of the clubman had been advised to say to him that the husband of one of his friends had become insanely jealous and was likely to do something. The authorities say they have been unable to confirm this report.

Investigators Baffled.

It is almost inconceivable that so prominent a citizen as Bibber could be shot at the very door of his residence at 9:55 o'clock in the evening, not more than half a mile from the business section and the police station, and the murderer make a clean and complete get-away, but as the days have passed it becomes more and more apparent that the investigators are baffled.

It was suggested today that everybody who has been mentioned in the case should be called in and examined with a stenographer present to take down what they have to say.

Nobody discusses the Bibber case without also talking about the mysterious burglary at the home of the Wallace H. Whites, Jrs.

The murderer of Wednesday night made his escape across the White lawn.

Three nights afterward the White mansion was burglarized.

Young Mrs. White was struck down by the burglar. A thousand dollars' worth of jewelry was taken from the house. The woman's cries aroused her husband. She had also been struck down by a burglar.

White a Young Attorney.

White, a young attorney, is a grandson of the late United States Senator Frye, Lee Bibber, he was prominent in the Calumet Club.

Both the local newspapers have appealed to the people of Lewiston not to give circulation to some of the rumors that are afloat. Women's names are passed from lip to lip, and in almost every case they are the names of women in Lewiston's upper tendom. Bibber had no friends except among the socially elect.

Whoever killed Bibber made away with his watch and chain. The murderer left behind, however, his victim's diamond ring and diamond scarfpin.

Murder and robbery took place in the best section of Lewiston, almost on the edge of the Bates College grounds.

The assassination of Bibber was in itself the greatest criminal sensation Lewiston ever had known. Since it was followed three nights afterwards by the first notable burglary in half a century the city has been experiencing a reign of terror.

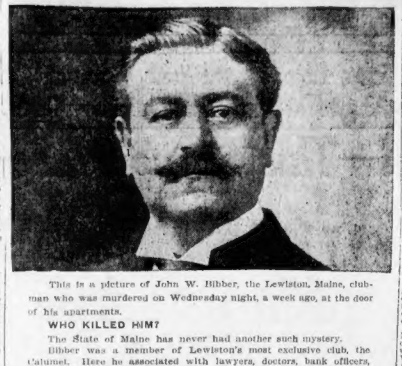
Republican and Prohibitionist newspapers throughout the State say the crimes may be traced straight to the door of the outlawed but tolerated Maine saloons. Liquor is as free in Lewiston as it is in Boston. Cities say that this sort of license has attracted thugs and crooks from the big cities.

Unprejudiced men declare, on the other hand, that the motive for the murder of John Bibber will be found far away from the saloons and their followers. When this dispatch was prepared for filing, the police, Marshal Collier said, were confident that an arrest might be expected shortly.

(A complete review of Lewiston's great murder mystery and sensational burglary will be found, profusely illustrated, in the Sunday AMERICAN.

THE HANDSOMEST BACHELOR IN LEWISTON, MAINE.

(WHO KILLED HIM?)



This is a picture of John W. Bibber, the Lewiston, Maine, clubman who was murdered on Wednesday night, a week ago, at the door of his apartments.

WHO KILLED HIM?

The State of Maine has never had another such mystery.

Bibber was a member of Lewiston's most exclusive club, the Calumet. Here he associated with lawyers, doctors, bank officers, officials of the great textile mills.

He was Lewiston's swellest dresser.

He had never married, but he admired many women and he had many women admirers.

Mayor Morey of Lewiston—who is also Speaker of the House—had engaged a Pinkerton detective to find the murderer of John Bibber. The Lewiston Journal has a Burns man on the job. On the ninth day the mystery seems as deep as ever, although an arrest is said to be imminent. A thousand rumors infest the city. Many of them are cruel. They cannot be printed. In most of them there is the name of a woman—not always the same woman.

And the robbery at the home of the Wallace R. White, Juniors.

This took place on the third night following the murder of Bibber, and less than 200 yards away. The murderer, indeed, had made his escape across the spacious grounds of the White place.

White is the grandson of the late William P. Frye, United States Senator. The White place adjoins the Frye place.

The Whites retired at 9 on Saturday night. At 10 Mr. White was aroused by the cries of his young wife. She had heard a noise from the bathroom, and opening the door had been struck down by a burglar. A thousand dollars worth of jewelry was gone. The silverware had been packed but left behind.

Nobody saw the burglar except Mrs. White, who cannot give a good description of him.

The police are baffled, the detectives are glum, the city is in terror.

It is an interesting, not to say sensational, story.

With pictures, maps, and the latest word from the investigators, it will be told in full in next Sunday's AMERICAN.

SERVICES FOR T. J. M'CARTHY

The funeral of Timothy J. McCarthy, a victim of the Titanic disaster, who was a buyer for the Jordan Marsh Company, was held today at St. Matthew's Church, Norfolk street, Dorchester, at 10 o'clock. A solemn high mass was sung by the Rev. John V. Cronin, assisted by the Rev. Walter A. Sweeney, deacon, and the Rev. Patrick J. Lyons, subdeacon. The Rev. John A. Donnelly, pastor, was master of ceremonies. The music was under the direction of Peter Gleason, organist, assisted by Mrs. William Johnstone, soprano; Miss Harriet Asking, alto; Arthur Henderson, tenor; Ludwig C. Fichter, bass. They were in turn assisted by Miss Catherine Roberts and Mrs. Joseph Kirby, sopranos.

Inside the chancel rail during the mass were the Rev. Francis Henley of Natick, Rev. Thomas L. Gasson, S. J., president of Boston College; the Rev. William J. Fitzpatrick of St. Gregory's Church, Milton; Mgr. Peter Rohan of St. Peter's Church, Meeting House Hill, who married Mr. and Mrs. McCarthy twenty-four years ago.

The pall bearers were George L. Snyder, William E. Rohan, William A. Hooper, Thomas F. Lockney, E. A. Pittman, E. H. Rolfe, Benj. J. Daly and Timothy J. Sullivan.

From the McCarthy home, at No. 32 Nelson street to St. Matthew's Church, a distance of one-half mile, the sidewalks were lined with people. Lieutenant James Walkins and a squad of officers from the Adams street station kept the streets clear.

The floral tributes were many and included a gates ajar and a standing cross from the Jordan Marsh Company, wreath from Mrs. Robert Jordan and wreath from Mayor Fitzgerald. There was also a large wreath of colored carnations marked "To a Hero," from the children of the neighborhood.

PROTEST HIGH CAR STEPS AS MENACE TO HOBBLE SKIRTS

PROVIDENCE, R. I., May 3.—The suffragists of the State intend to take an active part tonight when the hearing on the new street railway franchise is held at City Hall. Headed by Miss Elizabeth Upham Yates, the woman's rights advocates in this State intend to say what they think about matters, particularly regarding high steps in the cars. Some of the suffragettes wear bobbie skirts, in fact, most of them in this State do, and they don't propose that the street car company shall continue having the cars equipped with the high steps that are used now.

As soon as the matter is brought up, Miss Yates is going to state her objections and demand that the steps be lowered. The women feel that this is an important matter to be considered as regards the proposed street franchise, as much so, in fact, as fares, transfer rights, and the proposition to tunnel under College Hill.

Frank Gould Sails With Happy Guests

His Wife's Sisters and Brother, Loud in Praise of America, Off for Irish Home.

NEW YORK, May 3.—Loud in their praise of America and of their brother-in-law's hospitality, Miss Mabel Kelly, Miss Hetty Kelly, Miss Matilda Kelly and Arthur Kelly sailed for Europe yesterday with Mr. and Mrs. Frank J. Gould. Mrs. Gould, formerly Miss Edith Kelly, has been showing her sisters and brother everything this country can show and now she and her husband are going back to Ireland with them.

"From Ireland we are going to Paris," said Mr. Gould. "I have a string of two-year-olds at Maison Laffite and I want to see how they are doing. I've got some of them entered for the races and I've an idea that there is a Grand Prix winner among them. In my new stables there are sixty box stalls and there is a good galloping course nearby."

Nine-year-old Matilda Kelly was the most interested member of the party. She has a statesman all to herself, and so proud was she of this that she ran around telling everyone about it. Her sister Hetty, who has been in America before, said she was sorry to leave and hoped she could arrange to come back in the Fall with Mr. and Mrs. Gould.

Seek 400,000 Women in Union

MRS. RAYMOND ROBINS.

Mrs. Raymond Robins, John Golden and Other Leaders at Important Boston Conference.

Mrs. Raymond Robins of Chicago, president of the National Women's Trade Union League, and a member of the wealthy Dreier family of Brooklyn, headed a conference looking toward placing the 400,000 wage-earning women of Massachusetts in a gigantic trade union combination at the Warrenton street headquarters of the Boston branch of the league to-day.

Miss Melinda Scott of New York, national treasurer of the league, Miss Mabel Gillespie, secretary of the Boston League, Miss Ann Withington, a member of the local executive board, and John Golden of Fall River, international president of the United Textile Workers, also participated in the conference.

"Yes, we have formed provisional plans for the unionizing of every woman who works for wages the State over," Mrs. Robins declared at the conclusion of the conference. "The details of our plan have not yet been worked out, however, and a complete statement of what is proposed would be somewhat premature.

"It is not the women textile workers alone that we intend to organize in the American Federation of Labor trade unionists. The woman foundry worker, woman cooper, carpenter, clock maker, and all other women who work for wages also are to be dealt with.

"I trust that we shall be able to place at least ten women organizers in the Massachusetts industrial field in the near future. If we had the money we could make good use of fully ten times that number. No body of workers in the world need the protection of trade unionism so much as do women.

"Conservative estimates give the number of women workers in Massachusetts as 400,000. In many instances these women to-day are compelled, by force of circumstances, to sell their labor power for less than a living wage. Their future welfare —yes, in many cases, their very lives— depend upon wage and working condition betterments.

"This tells the reason of my visit to your city. By organizing those 400,000 women, in American Federation of Labor unions, we can force the payment of a living wage. And we intend to force the issue in the immediate future."

The Store That's Stood The Test of Time

Time is the final judge of everything. It takes time to build a successful business—it takes time to determine whether that business is worthy of continuance. When we opened our doors for business, some thirty years ago, we occupied a narrow strip of space at the corner of Hanover and Portland Streets, hardly as big in all as is now taken up by our show windows alone.

But we started in to satisfy—not merely to sell goods. We wanted the confidence of the people—and we knew the only way to get it was to deserve it.

So we commenced saying, "If you're not satisfied with what you buy, bring it back and we'll give you your money back if you want it." This was a daring thing to do in those days—but it put us before the public fairly and squarely—the people took us at our word and we stood the test. We've kept right on standing the test—until we now occupy three floors of space.

Men's $15 Suit Values at $10

Both men and young men will find in these suits something that will strike their fancy. Young men, because of catchiness of styles and dressy look of patterns. The business man will take to them because there is just enough snap and go to the fabrics to satisfy the desire for style and still not overdo it.

The coats are single-breasted, closing with three buttons; the vests are cut high, having five and six buttons; the tailoring is of the kind that lasts and satisfies as long as the suit lasts. The new browns, the new grays, the light and medium shades of tan, fancy blue mixtures and the clever striped effects—in fact, all the new things this spring.

DR. HIGGINS AND WIFE FILE SUITS

Dr. Frank A. Higgins, of No. 384 Commonwealth avenue, and Mrs. Higgins, now living at the Hotel Tuileries, have filed libel for divorce for desertion. Higgins alleges desertion, His wife charges cruel and abusive treatment.

Judge Jenney today, in the equity session of the Suffolk Superior Court, was expected to give a hearing on Mrs. Higgins' request for attachment of Dr. Higgins' property for $30,000. Both husband and wife were expected to be in court.

Friends of the Higginses say that behind all this lies a story which deals with Dr. Higgins' devotion to his family, despite Mrs. Higgins' desire that he give it up, at least in part, and the love of both for their children, Lawrence, fifteen years old, and Freeman, ten years old, for the custody of whom a battle will be waged.

Boys with Mother.

The boys are both with their mother, although Dr. Higgins succeeded in getting possession of the younger for a few brief hours, after he and his wife separated two years ago.

The Higginses were married seventeen years ago. Dr. Higgins was then just out of medical school. At present he ranks among the oldest surgeons in the city.

Mrs. Higgins, as Marion Lawrence, had been prominent with the younger set. She never took the name interest in her husband's profession that he did, and when, four years ago, the death of a friend left her wealthy, she besought him to give it up.

Mrs. Higgins went back to her father's home in Hyde Cliffe, Mass., taking the boy with her. She remained there with door shut against all reporters and telephone cut off.

Dr. Higgins Gets Boy.

The separation caused considerable talk, but interest dropped in time. A short time after the separation, which had begun in October, 1910, the younger son, Freeman, who, with his older brother attends the Volkman School, was met by Dr. Higgins on his way from there to The Tuileries by his father.

Dr. Higgins took the boy home. Mrs. Higgins' father got into communication with Attorney Sherman L. Whipple, and with him went to Dr. Higgins' home. The boy was brought back to his mother.

The Lawrences are extremely proud of their grandsons. One of the reasons for the cross libel filed by Mrs. Higgins is said by friends to be the fear that their father might be given custody of them.

CAPTAIN GORDON OF SOMERVILLE DEAD

Captain George A. Gordon, for many years recording secretary of the New England Historic Genealogical Society, died today at his home, No. 54 Belmont street, Somerville. He was born in 1827 in Dover, N. H., was graduated from Dartmouth in 46, and took up civil engineering and cotton building of cotton mills at Lawrence and Manchester, N. H. In 1853 he bought the Lawrence Sentinel, and ran it as a Democratic paper in the Buchanan campaign. He sold the paper and went to Detroit as a draughtsman for the Detroit Locomotive Works, which was wiped out in the panic of 1857. He went to the Charleston, S. C., Mercury, became captain of the First Georgia Home Guard," returned North in 1861 and became connected with the business department of the Somerville Journal.

ECZEMA ON HANDS ITCH WAS DREADFUL

Started in Tiny Pimples or Blisters, Filled with Water and Burst. Cuticura Soap and Ointment Cured in About 3 Weeks. No Trouble Since.

164 Feronia Way, Rutherford, N. J.—"This summer I contracted eczema on my hands. It started in tiny pimples or blisters, which filled up with water. They remained filled with water for about twenty-four hours, then burst and after they discharged the water, they came to a yellow head and the itch was dreadful. My hands looked sore and I could not use them where I had to use water. I was told to wash my hands with soap water and Cuticura Soap, dry them well and then use Cuticura Ointment on them, wearing white silk gloves and not to put my hands in water again that day. After using the contents of one box of Cuticura Ointment with the Cuticura Soap, my hands were cured of the eczema in about three weeks and I have not had any trouble since." (Signed) Miss A. Neuhaupt, Nov. 20, 1911.

UNSIGHTLY PIMPLES ON FACE
For Many Months. 'Cuticura' Cured.

237 E. 10th St., New York, N. Y.—"I was troubled with pimples on my face for many months. They kept on steadily increasing. They were so unsightly that I was ashamed to go outdoors. I doctored them with everything in the market professing to cure pimples. However, nothing helped and I thought I would have to go through life with a pimply face. At last a friend recommended Cuticura Soap and Ointment to me. I bought some. After using Cuticura Soap and Ointment the cure was complete in fifteen days." (Signed) Miss Sadonia Frank, Nov. 26, 1911.

Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment are sold by druggists and dealers throughout the world. Liberal samples of each mailed free, with 32-p. book. Address, "Cuticura," Dept. T, Boston. Tender-faced men should shave with Cuticura Soap Shaving Stick.

TRIO OF CLEVER DANCERS WHO WILL APPEAR AT MAY FESTIVAL TOMORROW

MARGARET McDONOUGH. WINIFRED GILRAINE. MART MURPHY.

Mrs. W. S. Butler's Festival Given for 24th Time Tomorrow Afternoon and Evening.

Dancing in hoop skirts and about everything terpsichorean that has been invented since will mark the May festival of Mrs. W. S. Butler, which is to take place in Mechanics Building tomorrow afternoon and evening. Mrs. Butler has been presenting her dainty and delightful juvenile May festivals for twenty-four years and some new and unique features have been added for the pleasure of the onlookers this year.

Margaret McDonough, as the "Pink Lady," will be among the soloists on the program, as well as Pauline Mason, an infant wonder, and Caroline Brine as the "Campbell Kid," while Winifred Gilraine and Mart Murphy will present a comedy number and Therese Weiscope will perform a difficult Russian dance.

In the May festivals there will appear 150 boys, a floral presentation in which Stephen Peyton will act as drum major. The dances are all the result of the fertile mind of Mrs. Lida Vles Wyman.

Bequest to Pastor Stirs Will Contest

Relatives of Late Susan Rockwood of Upton Appear in Court.

WORCESTER, May 3.—An unusual stir was created in the Worcester probate court today when relatives of the late Susan H. Rockwood filed a notice of protest against the probate of her will in which she left her entire property, valued at $5,800, to the Rev. Francis J. Marsh, a clergyman of the Congregational Church.

Miss Rockwood lived at Upton. She was about eighty years old when she died in March. Her friendship for the clergyman began many years ago. He lived at her home about seven years before she died.

The Rev. Mr. Marsh was formerly secretary of the Congregational Home Missionary Society and is a fine looking man of between fifty and fifty-five. He was in Judge Forbes' court today when the will was filed. Mary M. Ward, one of the protestants, was also in court.

The relatives who will fight the clergyman besides Mrs. Ward are Emma A. Moore, Herbert L. Childs and Anna Wisner. They claimed in their protest against allowing the will that the clergyman not only used undue influence in connection with the will, but that he went to the home of Miss Rockwood to live unsolicited.

PRISON-MARKED GOODS ILLEGAL

In a unanimous opinion submitted to the House of Representatives today the justices of the Supreme Judicial Court declares that the proposed bill to require the branding of goods made in penal institutions is unconstitutional. In their opinion the justices say in part:

"The bill requires in express and unqualified terms that all goods, wares and merchandise made by convict labor in a penal institution in this or any other State, before being offered for sale in this Commonwealth, shall be branded, labelled, or marked in such a way as to indicate conspicuously the source of their manufacture. The purpose of the bill is directly to affect interstate commerce. The general principle is that under the Constitution of the United States no State can pass any law which impairs or restricts in any degree the freedom of interstate commerce."

MACHINE RULES 'TOWN MEETING'

Five hundred members of the Boston City Club enjoyed themselves at their Pres at the regular meeting held as ited mock town meeting. Machine tactics ruled soms of the chief executive of the steam roller being Moderator Robert Gilkie, Town Clerk Ballantine and Chairman Joe Smith. F A Flume Louis A Frothingham, George R Smith and Herbert C Long

Moderator Gilkie's election was fraught with peculiar interest his closest political friend is the town W T A Fitzgerald, who started him in a rousing speech last night. Gilkie replied and then closed his address with a peroration that would do credit to Cicero, pulled to ask the name of the candidate he was nominating.

A mock heroic speech by "Jake" Smith fayed "O Harrow" and prepared and indorsed and proposed Henry I Kiley "a man free from all suspicion but his own" After Martin M Lomasney had spoken for Kiley, Arthur Lamson Jacobs for Lafayette, despite a speech against conferring, declared Cuvier was the greatest of and the latter was received with cheers for Constable Thomas H Hurley who made a brief talk with a stentorian shout of a three-foot philatelist. Moderator Gilkie quickly settled the election of the town clerk by "railroading" Peter Mahoney into office despite the latter's opposing of Kiley's cause by Joe Smith.

Henry I Quinby started an address on the subject, "Is a Man Worth $5 a Day?" but his remarks were ruled out of order by the moderator "Are you running for governor or a steward?"

Representative Cantwell of Chelsea attempted to ask the moderator if in view of the "open country" act of last July he and Selectman Conrad Hamilton of the same town did not consider it time to spend a couple of days in the open air. Gilkie replied with "No."

SIX ESCAPE FIRE PERIL IN LINCOLN

Six persons had a narrow escape from burning to death early today at Lincoln, and barely made their escape from the double house on North avenue. They were clad only in their night clothing. The house was discovered on fire by Gilbert Sadler, who occupies one side of it with his wife and seven-year-old son John. He attempted to call the fire department on the phone but the flames forced through the floor of the room in which he was standing before he got his telephone call. Taking his son in his arms and guiding his wife by the hand they made their way to the street.

SECOND CHURCH SITE IN FENWAY

A new home will be built in the Fenway by the Second Church in Boston now located on Clarendon square. Three sites are in the minds of the proprietors of the church, one of these on Newbury street, another on Bellevue street and the third on the corner of Audubon Road and Beacon street. The latter it is said, has already been bonded and will it is believed be the choice of the proprietors at their next meeting.

This decision means that negotiations looking forward to the amalgamation of the Second Church with the South Congregational Back Bay or with the Second Unitarian Church of Brookline will not come to pass. No such proposition will in the future be entertained by the proprietors.

The decision also signifies that the proprietors have abandoned all desire to acquire the property of the Mount Vernon Church on Mount Vernon street, that of the First Baptist church at the corner of Clarendon street and Commonwealth avenue.

The deeds, which mark the passing of the old property at Copley square will be passed on or about May 15 and when the last service will be held at the church is not as yet known. It is believed that it will be on Sunday, May 12. The society will, however, have meetings for the summer months as it has been the custom, and no effort is now contemplated for full services with the month until near the time of opening the new church. It is said that by this time the new church edifice will be under roof.

The Rev. Robert Nelson Mc Sorley, who will take charge of the new church on April 1, 1913, will assume the pastorate of the old society at the end of services within a few months. He will receive $10,000 a year for the twelfth year of service the sum of $10,000.

What My Credit Agreement With the Big Clothing Makers Means to Men

I Received the co-operation of the big department store people a few years ago, when I started out to revolutionize the credit buying of Boston. By the use of the Peoples Credit Co.'s ORDER CHECK I made it possible for a woman to go into the big department stores and buy on credit at the regular advertised cash bargain prices.

Now I have the co-operation of the Biggest and Best Makers of Men's Clothing in America.

I have entered into an agreement with them severally to sell their high-grade Men's Clothing on credit, and I have agreed not to charge one cent more for their clothing than is charged by the cash stores who handle these famous brands.

No man need now pay his whole week's salary for clothes—neither is he compelled to go to a cheap credit house and pay an outrageous profit for an inferior credit house brand of clothing.

I will sell him on credit, at cash prices, any of the following well-known brands of clothing, which are carried by the best and most reputable clothing stores in Boston: THE RICHARD SYSTEM CLOTHES of New York City, the finest ready-made clothes in America; FRUHAUF CLOTHES of New York City, strictly hand made, equal to the highest-grade custom-tailored clothes; R. B. FASHION CLOTHES of Rochester, N.Y., the snappiest clothes in America for the clever dresser; HIGH ART CLOTHES of Baltimore, clothes of quality, suitable for the conservative dresser; GRIFFON CLOTHES of Baltimore, "Faddy" clothes for young men; LINCOLN BRAND of Boston, the very best medium-priced clothes made; FRANKEL SYSTEM CLOTHES of New York City, including the famous Frankel $15.00 suit, the very best suit made for this price in America; CHARACTER CLOTHES of New York City, highest-grade strictly union made garments; NATIONAL STUDENT CLOTHES of New York City, the finest young men's clothes made; style, quality and make are all combined in this brand. Many other brands of beautiful clothes advertised in the magazines and newspapers.

TECH MEN IN SHAPE FOR MEET

Saturday the Tech track team will meet Brown in the only Intercollegiate track meet that has been held on the Tech field in three years. Last year the Institute men won by an overwhelming score of 84 2/3, but, judging from reports from the Providence team, they will have a much harder time this year.

Coach Kanaly, however, thinks his team capable of winning with the exception of Wilson, who won the 100-yard and the 220-yard in the Brown meet, and Hall the high jumper.

Wilson pulled a tendon early in the season and has not yet gotten into condition, and Hall spiked himself in practice the first of the week.

Wilkins will be depended upon to take Wilson's place and from his showing in the trials he looks good to the Boston Brown a hard race. Nothing less is much better time lately and looks good for first place in the 440 with a little exertion. Byford has made good time in the 880. Gneiling is also among the fastest.

Brown will take the lead in all the field events as Tech is weak in these events. Captain Dalrymple will probably win the high jump and Metcalf will take a big distance in the hammer but no one in the team can come near Bartlett of Brown in the discus and Tech will probably lose first in the broad jump and pole vault.

As the results of the time trials held during the week Coach Kanaly has taken for Saturday's meet:

100—and ... W. S. Wilson, C. R. Hayward, H. S. Wilkins, L. A. Wilson, P. H. Gneiling.

440—W. T. H. Gneiling, W. Mathews, W. Byford, C. R. Thompson, L. A. Wilson, H. Wilkins, and J. Bailey.

Bresnahan Offers $500,000 for Team

ST. LOUIS, Mo., May 2. Confirmation of rumors that Roger Bresnahan, catcher and manager of the St. Louis National League baseball team, wished to take over the club came unexpectedly yesterday afternoon when Mrs. Helene Hathaway Britton, owner of the club, refused in Judge Grimm's court that Bresnahan had offered $500,000 for the club and for the park.

Mrs. Britton was on the stand in a suit to prevent L. A. Steinlieger, president of the club and administrator of the estate of Stanley Robison, from voting the stock of Mrs. Britton and her motion at meetings of the club. Steinlieger testified he asked Mrs. Britton what the baseball team and Robinson Field were worth. She then stated Bresnahan's offer.

This line of questioning was dropped and all concerned refused to discuss the matter further.

RILEY'S COLUMN

THAT was another big 3-spot at Washington. Lucky the Red Sox were on the right side this time. They've got to face Walter Johnson before they come home—Johnson with a record of three straight shut-outs. And they don't dare come back to Boston with worse than an even break with the Senators.

* * *

THE Athletics dropped another game to New York yesterday and refused to the second division, but the Chicago White Sox refuse to quit their winning streak. Two Senators are right back of the Red Sox, and Cleveland is only two and a half games to the bad. The Browns can't afford to lose more than one of the two remaining games with Washington. And it would help a lot if they lost neither of them.

* * *

THE Pilgrims MANAGE to KLING to third place. A "fan" sent that to the editor, who disclaims all credit, or discredit for the effort. It was an effort wasn't it?

"If I'm Joe, in spring training I play a game with the Pilgrims don't need them, I guess."

OWNER JIM GAFFNEY and Manager James Connolly have come to terms and the Pilgrims both signed "Nats" at Pinehurst and a long and very cold time on the Pilgrims' back yard today. In fact Jim is Rogers Rider. "Whatever it you're talkin' for Ryder," said Jim as he signed with me. "Nats are good enough for me, I guess," replied Nat, "but those Pilgrims look to me like I thought that little gun was starting for Rhode Island when he left. What's he talkin' about?" "Hey! Not a bit of it," replied Jim, "I mean the season opening." repeated the boilermaker. That's Connolly and me trying to convince the ball guy that Methuse'm had a better ball team than Noah."

THIRD BASEMAN SMITH of the Dodgers made a funny run yesterday. He scored it in the seventh inning on a single by Dave Brown, a stolen base, an error by Hyde. He scored a wide pitch on the third strike and took second when the ball slipped through Catcher Gooch's hands and went to the grand stand. He took third on Neal's out and scored the rubber was a cloud of smoke obscured Jack Scott's sight of the plate and the Dodgers shortstop put out Daly at first when he saw players on the field. Meadows of the scorers discredited Gooch with a passed ball, in missing the third strike, others call hot up a wild pitch to Hyde.

Tramp, Tramp, Tramp, is heard along the road to that peaceful place, called Back.

MANY are going to that happy land known as Back, and few are coming there from. But can you believe it? Connie Mack's world's champions are of the former? They're during the "Tramp, tramp, tramp" down the harder post now. Every manager in the American League has been looking forward to the day when Connie Mack's champions would reach the stage that inevitably comes to all baseball teams. But as yet they long for it, they can hardly believe that the "White Elephants" will ever lag in the second division, where they now rest. But they're sure there now.

* * *

IF the Athletics have "gone back," they're next door neighbors to good company. The Tigers are not casting any of a shadow in the limelight.

CHARLEY HALL, the "Mad Mystery," "Sea-Lion" or "S. O. S. Kid," just as you like, still has an odd deal record. He was in a hole yesterday, but the Red Sox batted him out of it and he has yet to lose his first game this year.

* * *

"VIC" CAMPBELL, the Pilgrims "speed boy," was the victim of poor coaching yesterday. He was on first base in the seventh session. Miller batted a long fly to Northen, which was a sure out unless there was a possible muff. The first-base coacher sent Campbell off, but foot, for second and the fleet one dodder put his head down and beat it. He was at second when somebody yelled that Northen had caught the ball and, notwithstanding a fast sprint back, he was doubled.

TAFT RECOUNT PAPERS ARE FILED IN BOSTON

...nominated? Why, there is no ... this about it. He will carry the ... in matter how the ... The people know what ... Roosevelt has done ... If President Taft is the ... republican ticket with ... I will support him ... I'm a republican ...

Big Issues Ahead.

Well, also, as for me, I'm ... know that you will be a ... will be pleased if they do ... Roosevelt loses delegates ... Taft is elected ... mind the issues ahead ... Taft is elected he will be ... as a ... I believe in the initiative and referendum and even the recall of judicial decisions. Why do you know that I'm here? I'm a graduate of Harvard law school. I consider all questions small but the big ones. I'm glad, oh, it's the courts. The people should be the judges.

Mr. Baxter's Statement.

"You cannot get away from the fact that the people of Massachusetts have spoken, and they said Roosevelt as their candidate for President. And those elected their instructions to each delegate-at-large pledged to the support of Roosevelt. Baxter will handle the delegates-at-large in the Chicago convention. He is pledged personally with a signed letter on his desk in the Tremont Building.

"There is not a shadow of a doubt in my mind that thousands of Republicans who went to the primaries last Tuesday failed to mark a cross in that little square over both ways over in the corner of the ballot, because they thought it unnecessary in view of the fact that they voted for delegates who were pledged to the former president" he continued vigorously.

President Herman Hormel of the Boston Republican city committee, a loyal Taft supporter, lived with the election board petitions for a recount of the Republican votes for delegates-large in all the Boston wards, except Ward three. He also petitioned the board to inform the public how many ballots were made defective by the marking of more instead of eight crosses for Taft delegates-at-large.

The Boston recount will be held at the office of the election department, No. 100 Summer street, Monday morning at 9.30 o'clock and in the meantime the election board will determine whether the information Presidential Hormel seeks relative to defective ballots will be made public.

Charles H. Thompson said, after a conference with Colonel Roosevelt:

"The Taft men say thousands of ballots were thrown out because nine delegates were voted for on them. Nevertheless, in some of the districts, the preferential vote was counted on these very ballots.

"And in two districts, the Eighth and Tenth, I believe, the preferential vote favored Colonel Roosevelt, while the Taft district delegates were elected. Now what are the Taft delegates going to do in these districts? Should not they vote for Colonel Roosevelt at the convention?"

Taft's Vote Cut.

Taft's plurality in Boston has been cut from 851 to 316, according to the election commissioners.

Here is how it is made by the Boston election commissioners give the city's vote for alternates-at-large to Taft, while the delegates-at-large go to Roosevelt. In the big range of figures the Roosevelt delegates-at-large won by a plurality of 2048, while the 200 out of 207 precincts the Taft alternates-at-large win by a plurality of 1,129.

The missing precincts in 10 of Ward 21, in which the election officers neglected to count the vote for alternates-at-large.

"Must Save Crane."

Senator Crane must be saved," is the slogan of the administration forces.

If the powers in Washington have their ways, Lee Meyer, who is to act as the stand-off on the floor of the Republican convention, will refrain from the chit-chat section, it is said, and proceed forward and place on state ticket and the candidate for the United States senate, Winthrop Crane.

If in the interest of harmony it is deemed the part of wisdom to permit the seven contested-at-large to vote for the substitution of Colonel Roosevelt, they will not be threatened with political extinction for so doing.

Also it was shown that only about three contested Taft voters from the Roosevelt districts the peril of a sharp attack and the supposed Senator Crane did not seem interested in the election, being full of a Legislature fight to the finish with Mr. Crane. It is probable that there are many Roosevelt men who will be Republicans in Massachusetts next fall, without their good will the party will suffer seriously in the next election. Hence the move to placate the Roosevelt men.

Striving for Peace.

Instructions were sent to Boston to the effect that the eight delegates-at-large must not be chosen with the Taft preference implement, if they were chosen.

The Taft men were very much disappointed if they for that they sought to vote for Colonel Roosevelt personally, and in full accordance with what they believed will be the wishes of the people of Massachusetts. Roosevelt and Taft have to get together."

This was the keynote of the Taft attack.

Whatever claims to the votes of the eight delegates-at-large General Chapin may make in order to get President Taft on Roosevelt strongly leaders of the Taft League may prefer for the binding force of preference expressed Curley, Baxter and the seven delegates elected at large will not be embarrassed if the decision of the Washington committee here prevails.

The Roosevelt delegates are expected to receive seats today, following the decision of some of their number with regard to the contested delegates.

The election commissioners announce that the time for filing petitions for a recount of Tuesday's vote in all cities and towns of the State outside of Boston expires at 5 o'clock this afternoon.

CURLEY SEES VICTORY FOR CHAMP CLARK

WASHINGTON, May 2.—Congressman Curley of Boston is overjoyed at the victory of Speaker Champ Clark in the Massachusetts primaries and predicts his election as President in November. He is particularly pleased at the action of the Democratic leaders in Massachusetts in deciding that all the Democratic delegates shall follow the popular vote and go to the Baltimore convention pledged to Clark.

"I am firmly convinced that Speaker Clark will be nominated," said Mr. Curley, "I also feel confident that President Taft will be renominated at Chicago. Mr. Clark should gain an easy victory over Mr. Taft at the polls next November.

"The decision that the popular vote carries all the Democratic delegates with it is particularly gratifying. The best part of it is that the Democratic authorities decided that way of their own accord and did not wait to be forced into that position by public opinion.

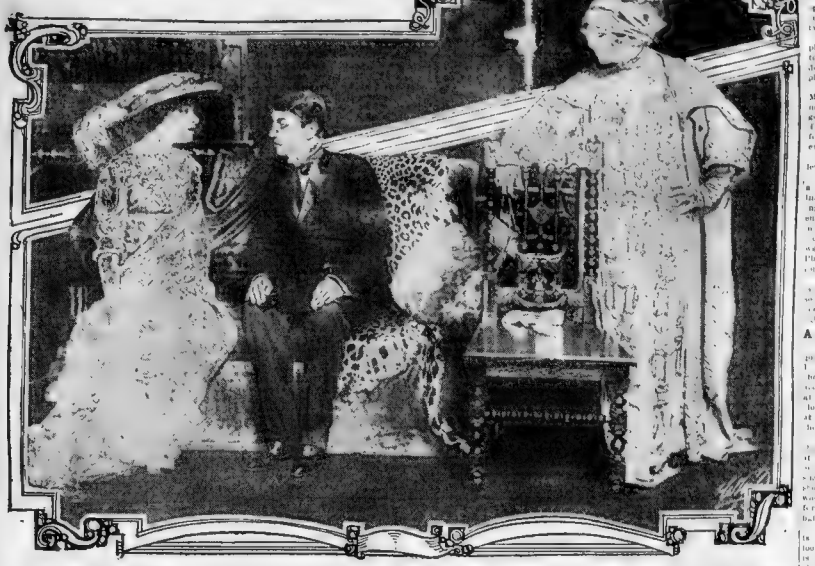
A Story of Japanese Plotters—Love, Mystery and Tragedy—Based on the Great Play Now Running in New York

THE TWO FRIENDS AND THE JAPANESE.

Illona Kerner, called one of the most beautiful and one of the most dangerous women in Berlin, Tokoramo and Teri Hempel, at the first meeting of the Japanese and the pretty actress.



By J. W. M'CONAUGHY.

Copyright, 1912, by American-Journal Examiner

LINDENER burst into a derisive laugh and this time Professor Brock ignored him. He rose, startled.

"But, sir!", he protested anxiously, "I must impress upon you to be careful! This is a very important manuscript—the result of thirty years of laborious research!"

Yamoshi stepped forward, hands clasped in front of him, looking as harmless and innocent as a missionary.

"It is a wonderful work!" he said in his peculiarly high-pitched voice. "Splendid—thorough!"

Instantly mollified by this praise of the work of his lifetime the Professor thrust his hands under his coattails and turned to Yamoshi, clearing his throat.

"Did you read it through—entirely through?" he inquired eagerly.

"Yes," nodded Yamoshi. He did not meet the professor's eye, but gazed past him at the floor

"You read it carefully? Did you enjoy it?"

"Never before have I enjoyed a scientific work so much" declared Yamoshi with unmistakable sincerity. The barest shadow of a smile passed for an instant behind the concealment of Joshikawa's beard.

"That is gratifying—deeply gratifying!" the professor produced a cord-case and extracting a card, handed it to Yamoshi.

"May I trouble you to send it to my apartments today? Here is the address."

"The book was such a revelation," said Yamoshi, taking the card without glancing at it, "that I took the liberty of handing it to a friend or mine—Dr. Omayi."

Again the Professor opened his eyes in rising alarm.

"But gentlemen," he cried. "The results of my research must not be known yet! The book is not published."

"Ha, ha!" laughed Lindener scornfully. "From hand to hand—your work! Before it is printed—and you call these men courteous and considerate gentlemen!"

The professor was too much wrought up to be offended. The Japanese, as before, serenely did not hear.

"Peace! Peace, for a moment!" he said, raising his hand. Then in an agitated tone he appealed to Tokoramo. "Doctor, I beg of you, kindly tell me who has my manuscript?"

Before Tokoramo could reply Joshikawa interposed.

"Professor," he said, quietly, "I have the manuscript—carefully laid away on my writing table."

Professor Brock drew an audible sigh of relief as he turned hastily to Joshikawa and bowed. "I am very glad—I will receive it today."

"The day after tomorrow," replied the Japanese, after an instant's hesitation. "I will bring it to you myself."

"The day after tomorrow," repeated the professor, apparently relieved of all consciousness of anything else. "Thank you! After all," he went on in a generous burst of feeling, "once sat down, "I presume it is kindly interest and deep appreciation that has kept my book among your most cherished possessions."

"I can believe that," interrupted Lindener, with an insulting drawl, "or nothing in his whole life."

"Your good opinion affords us much pleasure, Tokoramo count [illegible] dressing Lindener directly for the first time.

"Just heard," continued the professor with a doubtful glance from one to the other, "I am profoundly gratified—at heart I am proud—at heart I am proud."

A Scathing Denunciation

"At heart you're an ass!" broke in his friend, harshly. "To let these men make a fool of you"

"What do you mean?" demanded Brock, turning on him violently

"What do I mean" echoed the other, with biting scorn "Can't you see? Bah! Did it ever occur to you that these men may have other motives for keeping your book among them? You blind fool! Can't you see that they are stealing your work—your work of thirty years?"

"Ernest!" exclaimed the horrified Professor. Not a Japanese as much as stirred to resent.

"Can you see a deafening, unscrupulous lie?" cried Lindener, his eye running over the impassive circle of yellow faces

"Ernest! I beg of you! You do not know them!"

"Know them! Ha! I know them—designing, deceitful rascals! Look at this very room—in a European house, in a European city—a room filled to bursting with their Japanese decorations."

The Professor, acutely distressed and unable to silence his friend, leaped eagerly at this opening in the hope of getting him off the subject until he could be gracefully engineered out of the house.

"This room?" he exclaimed. "It is wonderful, beautiful. I created a whole chapter in my book to Japanese taste and simplicity in decoration!"

Lindener snapped at the word with unutterable scorn. "Simplicity in a Japanese! Bah!"

The professor sprang up and struck the table with his fist.

"This is an outrage!" he cried, glaring down at his friend. "I introduce you to this friendly circle and you—Great God! you abuse them to their faces!"

Lindener thrust his hands in his pockets and gazed about the circle with an insolent stare.

"Abuse!" he scoffed. "Look at them! Look at those calm masks! The devil is a Japanese! Bah!"

The professor sprang up and struck the table with his fist.

"This is an outrage!" he cried, glaring down at his friend. "I introduce you to this friendly circle and you—Great God! you abuse them to their faces!"

Lindener thrust his hands in his pockets and gazed about the circle with an insolent stare.

"Abuse!" he scoffed. "Look at them! Look at those calm masks! The devil is a Japanese! Bah!"

The professor sprang up and struck the table with his fist.

"What are you doing here?" cried Lindener, pausing forlornly. "I ask you—and them, if they can tell the truth. What are they doing among us? Why do they come here by thousands? They have their families at home—their friends, their people—they love their country. What do you suppose brings them here? Do you think they come here to make our acquaintance—because they enjoy our society? Ha! At heart they have a profound contempt for us!"

In the hope that the outburst was over the professor sought to smooth out the rough places in the scene. "Come, come," he stirred.

"Why, my dear Ernest! That is easily explained! You would know if you knew them! They come from love of culture! Culture!" Lindener laughed scornfully "Why, bah, they are a thousand years ahead of us in culture! They hate and despise us, as you say, I [illegible] to show you for [illegible] and mockery. It [illegible] a question of culture! It [illegible] a question of [illegible]. Ah! [illegible] people are worthy of our respect! It is the Chinese. They despise us, but they don't conceal it! And," he added, throwing a glance around the room, "if there was a man in the lot of you that had the [illegible] of a mouse, he would have kicked me out of this room long ago!"

"Really!" gasped the professor against his will "I hardly know what to say."

"That would be a waste of energy," cut in Tokorama's grave, courteous voice, as Lindener erased speaking, "since presently you will be wasting of your own accord."

Lindener rose quickly and kicked his chair back. "I'll do better than that!" he snorted. "I'll leave now!"

Tokoramo hastily stepped forward with a restraining gesture. "I beg of you," he said, "to not do that. Really, we have some refreshment. Your remarks interest us greatly"

Lindener stared at him and bitterly he opened his lips to speak, but Tokoramo's big body in final forward stood waiting for him to resume his seat. Still standing Lindener at last recovered his voice but he kicked his chair back into [illegible] "What you have a right, of [illegible] I'm [illegible] assed [illegible] myself [illegible] and at last replied in bitter but still [illegible]

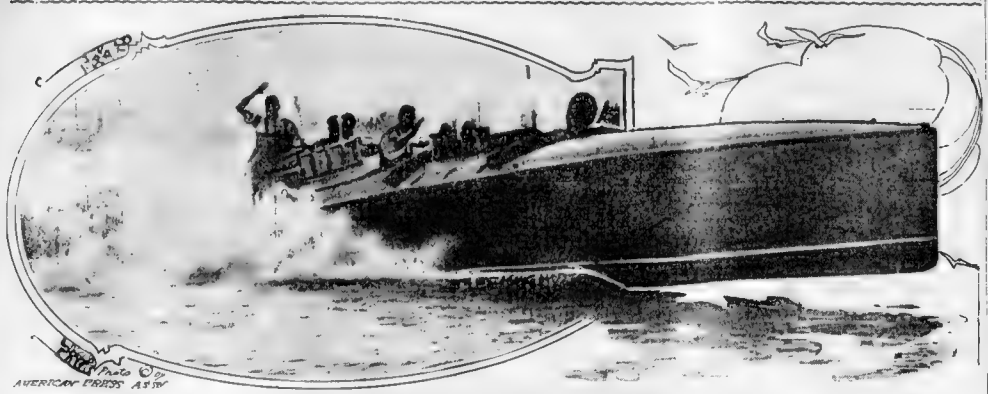
The Healthiest Sport in the World By Garrett P. Serviss

How Science Has Brought Within the Reach of All an Amusement That Teaches Self-Reliance, Instructive Study and Good Judgment



CHAMPION OF THE WORLD—DIXIE IV.—GOING AT OVER FORTY MILES AN HOUR.

(Reproduced by permission from Motor Boating Magazine.)

By GARRETT P. SERVISS

WHERE shall we find the limits to what science can do for humanity? If revolutionizing, in a score of ways, it enables the workingman of today to enjoy comforts and conditions of comfort and even luxury, that were beyond the reach of the richest less than half a century ago. It has given him the use of the [illegible] advantages of rapid [illegible] to live at a distance from his place of employment, amid more beautiful surroundings, in better constructed houses; steam heat; telephone communication; [illegible] more varied food; new and [illegible] clothing and appliances for the [illegible] and cheap amusements for himself and his family. Science is the great equalizer of conditions on the earth. Its gifts cannot be monopolized, all share in their advantages. It prolongs life and multiplies its enjoyments.

One of the most remarkable revolutions that science has affected is in the matter of health-giving sports and amusements. The invention of the bicycle not only placed a new means of rapid conveyance within reach of the most modest purse, but it promoted health and the joy of life for hundreds of thousands. Automobiles are still costly but their price will come down, the cost of [illegible] is already [illegible] the time when every [illegible] will be able to enjoy the luxury of a ride in his own [illegible].

In one direction the magic of science has already placed a fascinating new sport within the reach of [illegible]. MOTOR BOATING. Those who have not kept track of the advances made in this way must be astounded by what has been achieved. It is possible now to purchase for a few hundred dollars a boat driven by gasoline motors which affords a pleasure as gratifying as it is exhilarating. Desperate Desmond

The Villain Is, Much Against His Will, Invested with the Order of the Bath

By Hershfield

DESMOND IS GUILTY MEN! HE TOLD THE CZAR MY CLAUDE WAS A NIHILIST
YOU ARE WANTED AT THE PALACE FOR STEALING THE CZAR'S RAG
CLAUDE IDENTIFIES YOU
I AM TO BE DROWNED AS A NIHILIST IN THIS BATHTUB OF THE CZAR. HERE COMES DESMOND. I RECOGNIZE THE CUR!
I LOVE ONLY YOU CLAUDE
I'M SAVED! I TOLD THE CZAR OF YOUR VILLAINIES AND YOU MUST DIE IN MY PLACE!
CURSES! I'LL FEEL YOU YET
KEEP HIS HEAD UNDER WATER, CLAUDE OH, LOOK AT THE BUBBLES HE'S DYING
BUBBLES! HE'S DROWNING
WHILE CLAUDE, ROSAMUND AND THE RUSSIANS ARE WATCHING THE BUBBLES, PETER TURNS THE FAUCETS AROUND AND START A PANIC, HA! HA!
BUBBLES! HE'S DROWNING!
WATCH THEM SCATTER! NOW TO ESCAPE IN THE EXCITEMENT AND SIEZE ROSAMUND, HA! HA!

I.—TO THE PALACE.

The villain Desmond has been arrested by the Russian authorities while trying to pawn one of the Czar's diamond rings, and he is now being rushed into the palace. The faithful Rosamund follows the soldiers, telling them that Desmond is guilty and that her lover Claude is confined in the palace merely on account of Desmond's lying stories about him.

II.—IDENTIFIED.

Desmond is brought to the side of the bath in which the water is slowly rising over Claude Eclaire and confronted with the half-drowned hero. Rosamond's story to the Russians is quickly confirmed when Claude at once identifies Desmond. The cries with which the Russians greet this recognition bode ill to Desmond, for these particular Russians are loyal to the Czar, no sign of repentance.

III.—INTO THE WATER.

It does not take the infuriated Russians a moment to release Claude from the fatal bathtub and to dump Desmond into it instead. Rosamond is once again happy with Claude and not one of those in the palace feels even a momentary pang of regret for the fate of Desmond after his life of villainy. The scoundrel, however, shows out of breath at this rate.

IV.—A DAMP VILLAIN.

All hands, save gentle Rosamond, now join in poking Desmond's head under the water, despite his bubbling protests. It is pretty damp in the bathtub, but nobody cares what Desmond thinks about it or how wet he gets. It's time he got the water cure, anyway. Bubble-ubble-ub! Bubble-ubble-ub! Desmond will soon be out of breath at this rate.

V.—A LITTLE FOOTWORK.

Even under water, Desmond does not cease to plan. He cannot use his hands, for he is being held down by the husky Russians. So if he is to do anything he must use his feet. Accordingly the resourceful villain fumbles with his feet until he finds the water taps at the end of the bath and does his best to turn them upside down.

VI.—ROUTED.

"I'm the boy!" bubbles Desperate Desmond, "if I am a bit waterlogged." The scoundrels plan of turning on the water taps resulted in sending a shower all over the persons who wished to end his career. As they recoil in surprise, Desmond plans to escape, and not only to escape but to recapture Rosamond. How he succeeds telg tomorrow.

TO-DAY'S STOCK MARKETS; LATEST FINANCIAL NEWS

STATE STREET, May 3.—Midday. While the Boston market was fairly active at the opening, and some copper showed steadiness, the weakness in trading in New York soon had a depressing effect here. Prices began to sag, and within an hour Copper Range was off 1¼, Tamarack 3½, North Butte ¾, Indiana ⅝, Boston & Corbin ⅝, Isle Royale and and American Zinc ¼. Isle Royale and Algonah advanced during the morning.

After the slump at the start there was a better price tone in the New York market and a few issues advanced sharply, but all the usual leaders continued weak.

According to an advanced statement prepared by R. S. Butler for the United States Geological survey, the total smelter production during 1911 from ores mined in the United States was 1,097,232,749 pounds. This is the largest production in the history of the industry and compares favorably with the output of 1,080,150,505 pounds for 1910.

Copper exports for the week which ended yesterday were 3,423 tons, a decrease of 1,166. Exports since January 1 total 115,961 tons, an increase of 11,465.

Hard Coal Roads Sold Lower.

The unexpected move made by anthracite miners in rejecting tentative terms offered them to end the strike caused hard coal roads to recede in price when the New York market opened. Reading, the most important of the hard coalers, opened at 176 or ⅝ lower than Thursday's closing, and within a few minutes its net rose had reached one point. Lehigh Valley was off ⅝. Canadian Pacific showed pronounced strength on bullish operations in London, opening at 250½, a gain of 1¼. Steel common lost ⅝.

The entire list was heavy. Among the initial declines were Amalgamated Sugar, 3; Copper, 2; and Arcadian Nipissing, 1¼. Union Pacific 1¼, Southern Pacific was unchanged.

The Curb was firm.

Americans in London held steady, but operations were sluggish.

Spot copper and futures advanced 2s. 6d. each in London at the opening, and the copper metal market there was firm.

Dullness In Copper Market.

The copper metal market continues dull and it is stated that while Phelps, Dodge & Co. and the United Metals Selling Co. are asking 16¼ cents a pound for electrolytic some of their competitors are willing to sell at 16 on a 30-day basis for delivery in June or July or the summer months. It is understood that since the middle of April there has not been enough copper being in this market to make transactions worth mentioning. The copper metal market in London has been weak recently. As the prices one statement made today reads: "A weaker undertone has developed in the copper metal market, which has for months past been exceptionally firm, and although the leading producers still make copper at from 16 to 16¼ cents a pound it seems clear that large amounts of copper can be had at lower figures."

"It is expected by many in the trade that the next report of the Copper Producers' Association, which is due on May 8, will show that the deliveries of the metal on account of refineries are less than were on hand on April 1. Should this be the case, and should the refinery production figures and those of consumption characterize for April. The latter totalled 48,000,000 pounds. According to the monthly report, New York has been little exportation of copper so far this month. The total deliveries on May 1 were only 60 tons.

Whether the Copper Producers' Association will report an increase or decrease is a matter of surmise to outsiders. Opinions on the point vary greatly. In a statement made today Tennant, Towle & Co. say: 'The visible supply of copper is not likely to be added to very much for some time to come. Consumption is keeping up well, and a sharp improvement under the present circumstances would bring about conditions.' It is believed that domestic deliveries can, with reasonable safety be figured at the rate of 70,000,000 pounds per month for the next two or three months, and that when the settlement of labor conditions abroad, the estimate of 60,000,000 to 65,000,000 pounds each month would be conservative, which would indicate a world's consumption of 130,000,000 pounds per month.' This would not foreshadow any increase in the world's stocks of copper.

A New York dispatch which was received today from Boston says that the demand for the copper metal continues quiet and that sales have been made at 15.85c. for cash at New York, which is equivalent to 16c. a pound deliverable in three days. The tone was characterized as firm and practically all of the leading producing interests continue to quote at 16@16¼c. for electrolytic.

"Foreign and domestic consumers show hesitancy in placing new contracts, and no shipping sales of importance were made during the week. The inquiry was light. The opinion in the trade seems to be that stocks will show a slight increase during the month, perhaps of 5,000,000 pounds. Deliveries to domestic consumers last month are expected to compare favorably with those made in the earlier months of the year.

"Foreign buyers have been somewhat below expectations, however, and the United States visible supply showing a total of approximately 20,000,000 pounds. It is considered probable, however, that the increase as recorded by the association will be somewhat larger than the government figures, owing to the difference in the dates of reporting. Total deliveries in April are estimated at from 115,000,000 to 120,000,000 pounds, while production, it is believed, will be as large, if not larger, than the March returns, when the refineries produced approximately 125,000,000 pounds."

$100,000,000 Edison Invention.

A method of separating the paying elements of ores invented by Thomas A. Edison will, it is claimed, add $100,000,000 a year to the mineral wealth of the country. In general results, according to descriptions, it will expose the very "low grade" from the mining vocabulary. All valuable material may be extracted from a low grade by it, and the mechanical process is said to be of the very simplest nature. One hundred tons of the Edison method can be done as well in a $50,000 plant of his devising as in a $500,000 plant of present methods which cost $250,000. The invention is the result of many years of study and attention on Mr. Edison's part, for many years and to have cost him a very large sum in experimental work. H. H. Clifford, a mining engineer says of it:

"There is no doubt about the wonderful way it has worked out. It appeals to me as the most important thing that Mr. Edison has done for his race. It stands beside the electric light in its matter of importance. It will be the means, by its simplicities, of a great revolutionary in effect, upon the progress of the commercial world. The whole plan of extracting the valuable material from ore will soon be changed to the immense advantage of mankind as a result of Edison's work."

Hearing on Rutland Road Control.

At the hearing in Albany on the application of the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad from the New York Central control of the Rutland road, Samuel Untermyer, who represented 17,000 shares of minority stock, accused the Mellen line of bad faith. He said that while the application was pending before the Public Service Commission the New Haven had actually made arrangements to take control and had done nothing in the five months which have elapsed since it bought one-half of the majority stock from the Vanderbilts except to recede from its illegal position.

James J. Storrow emphatically denied what he termed Mr. Untermyer's accusations. He said he represented the New Haven road for interests connected with the New Haven, and characterized the present opposition of minority stockholders as a "put-up job."

Mr. Untermyer replied that this characterization was "infamous."

The Commission announced that the case was finally closed and reserved decision.

Financial News in Brief.

In six weeks American Can has advanced more than 20 points, and on Thursday it crossed the preferred issue sold as low as 93 a share. Yesterday it sold as high as 116½.

The miners' strike has practically stopped anthracite production. The output of all the mines in April is estimated to total less than 2,000,000 tons.

According to estimates based upon preliminary figures, St. Paul's April gross earnings increased $612,000 but there was a decrease of $333,000 in net.

There were more merger speculation in Merrimac shares on the New York Curb yesterday, the old stock advancing 4 points on 10 points on buying orders which are reported to have come from Lowell.

According to the annual report of the Waterbury Clock Company, its being under the domination of Standard Oil of New Jersey cost it $3,197,677 in premiums, dividends and interest paid on issues in six years. It was fined $30,000 in March, $1,870,000 in Texas and 600,000 each in Arkansas and Oklahoma.

Bonds of the Guggenheims at La Paz, Bolivia, have been thrown upon the market at a saving in cost to the miners to keep out of the Tunani district, which, instead of failure, has made discoveries and profits.

A blanket mortgage of $200,000,000 is to be placed upon the Iron Mountain road to pay off outstanding obligations and put it in high class condition. President Benjamin F. Bush is to be empowered by the mortgage to issue for the refunding of the present, which is called the bankbone of the Missouri system.

Mrs. Astor May Be at Funeral

Daughter Will Go to Grave

VINCENT ASTOR AND NICHOLAS BIDDLE AT HALIFAX.

W. Vincent Astor, now head of the family, accompanied by Mr. Biddle, took Colonel Astor's body in a private car from Halifax to the country home at Rhinebeck, N. Y.

MILLIONAIRE'S BODY AT COUNTRY HOME FOR SERVICES TOMORROW.

RHINEBECK, N. Y., May 3.—The body of Colonel John Jacob Astor rests today in the reception room of his estate, Ferncliffe-on-the-Hudson.

With the fortitude of a Spartan woman, Mrs. Madeleine Force Astor, the beautiful young widow, is in seclusion with her dead.

In the little Episcopal Church of the Messiah at Rhinecliff-on-the-Hudson, funeral services over the body of Colonel Astor will be held some time before noon tomorrow. In this church, endowed by Colonel Astor and where for sixteen years he acted as warden, only members of the family and a few personal friends will gather.

The services will be conducted by the rector, the Rev. Dr. Ernest C. Saunders, assisted by the Rev. Dr. William T. Manning, rector of Trinity Church, and the Rev. Dr. Ernest M. Stires, rector of St. Thomas' Church.

Son Takes Body Home.

Colonel Astor's body reached Rhinecliff at 4:35 o'clock yesterday afternoon, accompanied by W. Vincent Astor and Nicholas Biddle, in the private car, Oceanic, which has been chartered for the trip from Halifax. The New York Central train to which the car was attached made a special stop at Ferncliff dock, about two miles north of the Rhinecliff station.

Six old employes of the Astor estate acted as pall bearers when the body was lifted from the Rhinecliff village undertaker, to place the body in the hearse which was to be conveyed over the winding roads of the Ferncliff estate to the Astor mansion on the hill overlooking the Hudson River. At Ferncliff the body was placed in a coffin which had been shipped from New York earlier in the day.

Mrs. John Jacob Astor, the Colonel's widow, Mrs. Force, her mother, and Miss Katherine Force, her sister, were in a little group of relatives and friends assembled at the dock when the body of Colonel Astor was carried from the car.

An early afternoon train from New York conveyed them to the Rhinebeck station, where they were driven in a limousine to Ferncliff. All were in deep mourning. They will remain there until after the service tomorrow.

Mrs. Force and Miss Katherine Force are expected to be among those in the funeral cortege that will board the special train tomorrow, bearing Colonel Astor's body to the city, where it will be buried in the Astor plot in Trinity Cemetery, One Hundred and Fifty-third street and Amsterdam avenue. Colonel Astor will lie next to his mother, Mrs. William Astor.

It was reported that Mr. Ava Willing Astor, Colonel Astor's first wife, who arrived with her ten-year-old daughter Muriel on the Kaiser Wilhelm der Grosse on Wednesday, and is now in seclusion at the Ritz-Carlton, would attend the funeral services at Rhinecliff. Announcement to this effect was said to have been made at the Astor mansion, No., 840 First avenue, although confirmation could not be obtained. It is known, however, that Muriel will attend the funeral.

Reading of the Will.

No member of the Astor family or any of the attorneys representing them would admit that directly following the burial on Saturday there will be a gathering in the Fifth avenue mansion of the immediate family.

Those expected to share under Colonel Astor's will, Neither former Judge Gildersleeve, who represents Mrs. Madeline Force Astor; Lewis Cass Ledyard, attorney for Mrs. Ava Willing Astor, nor Herbert G. Ashwell, who are attorneys for the Astor estate, would deny or affirm that the will which Colonel Astor is reported to have made shortly before his marriage to Miss Force last September will be read at that time.

It was announced at Rhinecliff that only members of the immediate family will be permitted to view the body. In respect to the memory of Colonel Astor the 100 or more employes of the Astor country estate wore black yesterday.

It is probable that the neighbors of Colonel Astor—farmers who have known him since as a small boy he played about the Rhinecliff estate—will join in the cortege that will follow the hearse from the mansion on the hill to the Rhinebeck station.

FIFTY-NINE BODIES FROM TITANIC BURIED IN HALIFAX GRAVES

HALIFAX, N. S., May 3.—Fifty-nine bodies, most of them unidentified, which were brought in by the cable ship Mackay-Bennett from the Grand Banks where the Titanic sank, were buried today in cemeteries here.

Fifty-six were placed in graves in Fairview Cemetery. The other three, the bodies of Catholics, were buried at Mt. Olivet.

Of the number who were buried, seven were women.

A funeral mass for the souls of the dead was celebrated in St. Mary's Cathedral by the Archbishop of Halifax and other clergy. For the Protestants, there was a special service in the Brunswick Street Methodist Church, attended by the Lieutenant-Governor and members of the Legislature.

Of the 190 bodies brought in by the Mackay-Bennett, only thirty-eight have been identified. Eleven bodies were removed today from the morgue and shipped to the homes of friends. Nine of these bodies are left at the morgue, and although most of them have been identified, it is expected that at least fifty will be buried in Halifax either by instructions from relatives, or because the bodies are unclaimed.

BRIDE WALKS BESIDE BODY OF HUSBAND LOST WITH TITANIC

Three more bodies of Titanic dead have been brought to Boston. They are those of A. W. Newell, president of the Fourth National Bank of Boston; A. O. Halverson of New York, and Sebastiano Del Crato of Glasgow.

The body of President Newell was claimed by Charles W. Hartwell, an Arlington undertaker. It will remain there until tomorrow, when it will be taken to the Newell home at No. 20 Petsy road, East Lexington, where the funeral will be held.

The body of Halverson will be sent to New York, while that of Del Crato will be taken abroad.

Del Crato's widow, a survivor of the Titanic disaster, was aboard the train. She was among the first to reach the baggage room. Mrs. Del Crato is the daughter of Giuseppe Marquis of St. Raphael Society for Italian Immigrants.

Mrs. Del Crato was one of the Titanic's brides. She carried two watches which were her husband's property, which had both stopped at exactly 2.15.

Champ Clark's Character and Record Explain His Wonderful Popular Victories

It begins to look upon the open surface of events as if the Democratic party is developing a great popular leader of solid worth and enduring qualities.

It is utterly impossible to explain the remarkable popular victories of Champ Clark in Illinois and Massachusetts upon any basis of money or influence or persuasion or machine politics.

The great popular uprising for the Democratic Speaker in these great representative and almost antithetical States—the one typically Eastern and the other as representatively Western—can have no other explanation than the confidence which the character and record of Champ Clark have inspired in the minds of the body of the people.

In each of these States Mr. Clark was opposed by Governor Wilson, one of the most picturesque and scholarly figures of our recent democracy, and perhaps the smoothest and most pleasing speaker that the party has developed within the quarter century. It is a simple matter of fact to say that the campaign literature of Governor Wilson was measured and distributed in tons among the people against meagre literature and scanty advertising sent out from the headquarters of Clark.

Both in Massachusetts and in Illinois Governor Wilson added the charm and persuasion of his eloquence to the able and vigorous efforts of his friends while Mr. Clark made not a single speech in either State. Both in Massachusetts and in Illinois the great majority of the newspapers in either party were openly friendly and eulogistic in their treatment of Governor Wilson, while Mr. Clark was supported only by the Hearst newspapers in these States.

Under these circumstances that Speaker Clark should have overwhelmed the brilliant Wilson by 126,000 votes in Illinois and beaten him more than two to one in Massachusetts is a tremendous and significant tribute to the hold which Champ Clark has upon the people.

CHARACTER AND RECORD—these are the pillars upon which the Clark strength is founded in Illinois and Massachusetts and in the other States which have given him their delegates, and in the many States which are yet to give him their ballots.

There is no better or truer record of unbroken loyalty and service in the field and in the Congress of the United States than that which Champ Clark presents to the Democratic people, and the Democratic people know it and have answered him.

No finer character of rugged simplicity, diligent industry and fearless honesty has ever been offered to a national convention than that which the friends of Mr. Clark will confidently plead when they present his name at Baltimore.

Those who opposed him in Massachusetts and in Illinois could find nothing to say against his record and character. There was no hint or suggestion of inconsistency, insincerity or betrayal. He was "the straight goods" everywhere, and the people take him at his big open face value—and will continue to take him.

The man with such a character and such a record, to whom the great body of the people have rallied with such amazing heartiness of preference, is undoubtedly the man who can rally the people and reunite the party and lead to victory at the general polls of November.

The Baltimore convention cannot fail to recognize this.

Widen Avery Street

Boston has no more important municipal problem than the improvement of its streets. Now that the Legislature and Governor have made possible the widening of Avery street, there should be no hesitancy on the part of the City Council. The measure should be passed promptly.

So far as similar improvements in the future go, and there will be many, the present law can be changed to spread the cost over a larger area if, upon investigation, such change is deemed equitable and just.

But in the meantime let us have Avery street. Let us make a beginning. If Avery street is blocked now and delayed, it will be a set-back for all further street improvements. Widen Avery street now and then use that experience for a guide in future street development. Then we will be doing something.

LETTERS FROM AMERICAN READERS

WOULD HAVE COUPON FOR LIFE-BOAT SEAT ATTACHED TO EACH STEAMSHIP TICKET

Editor Boston AMERICAN:

Sir—In view of the terrible disaster that has come to the Titanic, permit me to offer the following suggestions:

First—That on receiving a ticket for passage on any of the transatlantic ships each passenger be given a card on which shall appear a number corresponding to a number painted on a seat in a lifeboat or life raft.

Second—That, hung over the wash basin in each stateroom and printed in large type, be a card containing the numbers to which those occupying the stateroom are entitled.

If these suggestions are acted upon, in case of accident, every passenger will know just where to go, and the work of officers and crew will be aided.

As an old traveler I have often wondered why rules such as are suggested above have not been in force.

FAIR PLAY.

AN ARTICLE IN THE AMERICAN CALLED A CLASSIC

Editor Boston AMERICAN:

Sir—I have rarely read anything so eloquent and so thoroughly satisfying as the "Illiad Turned Epic" in the AMERICAN. It is indeed a classic. Among all the things which have been written, prompted by the loss of the Titanic, I have not seen its superior. It should be handed down as one of the classic gems of the English language. Yours sincerely,

H. L. S.

Homer Calvin Davenport

Born March 8, 1867 — Died May 2, 1912

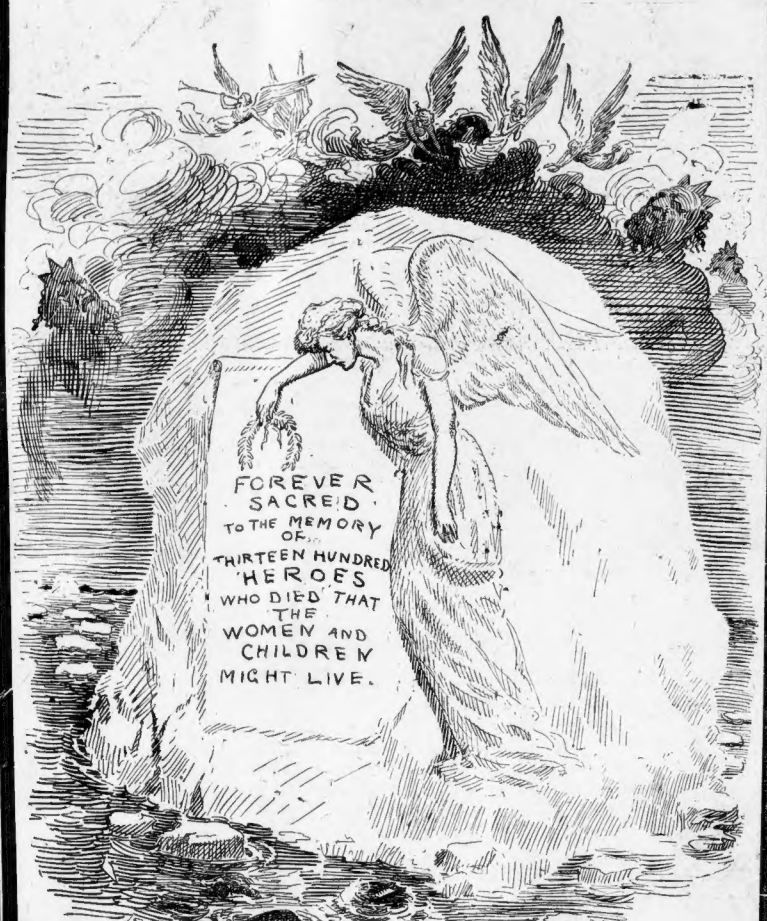
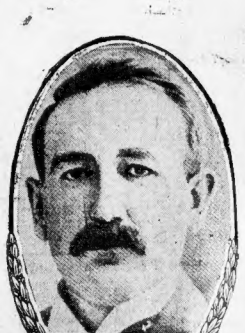
The Last Cartoon Drawn by the Famous Cartoonist for the Boston American of April 20, 1912:

THEIR MONUMENT





THIS editorial page comes with shadow and sorrow to speak of Homer Davenport—dead.

There is no laurel wreath woven for editorial fame and usefulness which the great cartoonist does not share. Under the strong fingers and the virile touch of this master artist history is made and altered and great reforms are fought and won.

It takes a large soul to grasp the meaning of the master movements of the age—and Homer Davenport had it.

It takes a master touch to trace in lines of clearness and of power the incarnated virtues and abuses of the age—and Homer Davenport had that touch—satire, scorn, praise, endorsement, advocacy and stern denunciation in a few virile lines without words that rang where editorials were not heard.

It was a simple, loyal, lofty soul which animated the brave dust, soon to be laid to rest—a comrade in shadow and sunshine, a lover of life, of animals and of men—a child of the desert and of the plains—a lone man in simplicity, and a cosmopolite in breathing pictures that epitomized and inspired the stirring times.

Many a machine politician, holding government and destiny in his hands, has writhed under the fearful laceration of the Davenport cartoons. Many a great trust, throned in gigantic power, has trembled at that magnified and monstrous figure which incarnated the power and the tyranny of plutocratic plunder, and many a great cause has taken heart and hope when the softened lines of the artist pencil made matchless appeal to the better sentiment of all human life.

The figures of the mighty survive. Politicians and magnates, chastened and defiant, go on their way. The straining arms of the helpful or the hurtful hold their grip upon society.

But the virile hands of the great editor-cartoonist—than whom the world has known no greater—are powerless and still forever—their mission done, their fingers folded in eternal rest.

A Bill to Make Ocean Travel Safer

Written for the American by
DR. C. H. PARKHURST

A BILL was introduced in the House of Representatives by Representative O'Shaunessy of Rhode Island on April 18, looking to the increased security of ocean travel.

This is the time when we may look for a goodly number of legislative movements having the same general aim.

People's minds are ripe for it, and our legislators may expect prompt and hearty backing in every reasonable endeavor made to atone for whatever laxity has been practiced in the past and to secure against a continuance of the same in the future.

The popular heart has been made very sensitive by its appreciation of the remissness of those in charge of our steamship lines and by its sympathy with those who have been lost and with those who have been bereaved.

The proposed bill has for its object to secure that, under certain conditions, every steamship shall be equipped with efficient apparatus for radio communication, in good working order, in charge of TWO persons skilled in the use of such apparatus.

The significance of such means of communication has now again been strikingly emphasized by events at the sinking of the Titanic.

* * *

THE contradictory reports that come to us respecting the details of the sinking of the Titanic bring to the front a matter that should be noticed by those interested in historic studies.

A great many events supposed to have transpired long since are called in question and treated with doubtful confidence, because the accounts given of them are in so many particulars mutually contradictory.

An interesting example of this was recently brought to my attention and is worth noticing, because the confused records preserved of the event, instead of destroying confidence in its occurrence, worked just the opposite result.

My story has to do with the religious convictions of a lawyer in Philadelphia.

He had been an unbeliever.

Although a man altogether beyond criticism in the matter of morals, he was unsettled in his Christian beliefs, especially as related to the so-called miraculous features of the Gospel story.

The point around which his skepticism particularly centred was that of the resurrection.

As all Bible readers are aware, the stories told of this event by the evangelists are very conflicting.

A great deal of effort has been honestly and studiously made to reconcile the inconsistencies.

Meanings have been read into certain expressions that can only be carried into them by being forced in.

It seems to have been thought that the actuality of the event must be considered as depending upon the possibility of making all the accounts tell exactly the same story.

Now our Philadelphia lawyer applied himself to the problem from a standpoint quite different from that occupied by the harmonists.

Each of the four evangelists gives his own story.

That four accounts should be given indicates the importance attached to the event by the early church.

Each of those four reporters the lawyer treated as so many different witnesses, and put each of the four successively upon the stand exactly as though he were trying a case in a court of law and aiming not to confirm some conviction already formed in his own mind, but to arrive at a conviction independently of any existing bias.

Briefly to sum up the result of his investigation it was this: That the difference in the testimony rendered by the four showed that there had been no collusion between them: if there had been they would all have told the same story; that they had each had independent acquaintance with the ultimate fact testified to, and that the excitement of mind incident to so remarkable an occurrence was sufficient explanation for the divergent aspects under which the fact had presented itself to their several minds.

Perhaps a thousand years hence, if the records of the Titanic disaster are preserved so long, some doubting historian will seek to discredit the incident because the stories related of it are in such entire disagreement.

Some lawyers from Pennsylvania may still be surviving who will be more acute than the harmonists and find fact in the confusion and contradictions of the records the material out of which to reconstruct the event upon a firm and impregnable basis.
